Flustered Yachtsman Launches Car

It was supposed to be a boat launching, but somehow the car got into the act, too, last night at Kinver Beach in Esquimalt. The car driver-boating enthusiast was so flustered at the time the picture was taken he was unable to give his name to Colonist photographer Jim Ryan.

'Useless Waste'

Benefits Go On Skid Road

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver magistrate suggested Thursday that a check be made on unemployment insurance and social assistance payments to halt the "useless waste" of such funds on skid road drinking parties.

CBC Strike Aid Sought

TORONTO (UPI)—Technicians at the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation studios here began seeking support from other broadcasting unions in the event of a possible nationwide strike.

'Lieut. Ballinger' Likes Sunset Ceremony

Tough "Chicago detective" of TV's M Squad, Lee Marvin traded his snub-nosed .38 revolver for a brief rundown on the 5th (B.C.) Independent Medium Battery nine-pound cannon

during the sunset ceremony last night. Mr. Marvin said the ceremony was "certainly something for Victorians to be proud of." See story, page 14.—(Colonist photo by Ted Harris.)

Today's Morals 'From Gutter'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Philosopher Dr. Barnett Savery says youngsters today tend to learn their morals from the gutter. The University of British Columbia professor told a parents' institute that many parents are leaving their children to learn their values from neighborhood gangs and television.

The present social system "is based on a fabric of lies" and these dishonesties affect the lives of our children," he said.

"The home has ceased to be a home. It now is a place to eat, sleep, hang a hat, and of course, watch television. Parents haven't time to be with their children."

The school teacher was expected to teach the child his moral values, but the teacher was overloaded with other duties and so "the youngsters tend to learn their morals from the gutter."

Girl Locked Days In Tiny Closet

NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C. (CP)—A 16-year-old Indian girl who had apparently been imprisoned in the bedroom closet of an abandoned home here for several days, was found by RCMP late Thursday. Police said the unidentified girl was in a weakened condition. She was taken to North Vancouver General Hospital in fair condition. Constable George Crosson, who opened the closet, said the only thing she said was: "I've been hiding from some boys." It was not known whether she was locked in the dilapidated home by someone or whether she went in and the door locked behind her.

Revolution More Than Month Old

CASTRO'S MEN FIGHT FRANCO

Bulletins

WASHINGTON — The house appropriations committee voted funds to set up a high-powered "brain trust" to mastermind global warfare against communism on the economic and political fronts.

BONN, Germany — The Federal Attorney's office announced the arrest of 20 persons in a sweeping investigation of a Communist East German spy ring in West Germany. More arrests are expected.

VANCOUVER — Vancouver's ocean beaches, closed since last August because of pollution, may be re-opened this summer, two years earlier than expected.

VANCOUVER—The United Church of Canada plans to build 600 new churches in this country in the next five years, the church's associate secretary said Thursday.

GENEVA — The regular East-West nuclear negotiators meet today in another attempt to get the stalled nuclear test ban talks moving.

Seeking, Sought?

Admittedly looking for a new governor-general, Australian Prime Minister Robert Menzies declined to say in Ottawa yesterday whether he was considering a Canadian for the job and jokingly replied he "wouldn't be frightened" by a possibility he might be asked to be Canada's next governor-general.

Strongholds Established In Two Areas

HAVANA (NANA) — Armed rebels have been fighting the Franco regime in Spain for more than a month in a revolution directed by veterans of Fidel Castro's July 26th movement, according to a highly informed source here.

The revolution, according to Gen. Alberto Bayo, technical adviser to the armed forces of Cuba, began "on schedule" on April 14. He disclosed details and tactics of the revolution, known as the "14th of April movement," in an interview.

EL GRAN BAYO

The general, known as "El Gran Bayo" to revolutionary forces in Latin America and in Spain, where he led loyalist forces during the Spanish civil war of the 1930s, said that he was elected leader of the April 14 movement several months ago at a convention of Latin-American revolutionaries in Caracas, Venezuela. Cuban and Venezuelan leaders have been the most vigorous opponents of Latin dictatorships in recent months.

TRAINED CASTRO

General Bayo is the man who trained Fidel Castro and his original followers in guerrilla tactics in Mexico three years ago. He is credited with the master plan for the overthrow of the regime of Fulgencio Batista.

The Spanish revolution which allegedly began on April 14 is confirmed by other sources here. The Cubans claim:

1.—A train was derailed, on the evening of April 14, at the entrance to a tunnel near Puerto de Pajares. The derauling allegedly was done by a band of guerrillas led by Antonio Rodriguez, who is a Cuban and a veteran of the Spanish civil war.

2.—Government troops in Catalonia and Andalucia are engaging the rebels.

3.—Fighting is particularly heavy in the region between Lavinana, Mieres and La Felguera, where miners have fled to the hills carrying with them supplies of dynamite.

4.—That rebel strongholds have been established in Asturias and Barcelona.

PLANE CRASH

5.—Two weeks ago a plane crashed near Madrid, killing all 28 passengers. The Cubans claim the crash was caused by an act of sabotage by the rebels.

Juan Pablo de Lajondia, Spanish ambassador to Cuba, has protested to the Cuban minister of state regarding these claims, particularly regarding the plane crash two weeks ago. The ambassador conceded that a plane did crash but objected to the claim that rebel sabotage was involved.

LIKE BATISTA

General Bayo pointed out that Batista also denied every claim of rebel success during his regime. By the time the rebel claims in Cuba had been verified, he said, the revolution had been won.

"Franco is keeping the truth from the world, just like Batista did," he said. "But our intelligence is very accurate, although it takes several weeks, sometimes, for reports to reach us."

NO FALSE CLAIMS

General Bayo insists that he is not sensationalizing: "We would be very stupid indeed to make false claims. The people who live in these (Spanish) regions would know that we were lying, the word would spread, and if our words proved false the revolution would be lost before it had begun."

Island Tug, Battleship

Historic Tow Starts Monday

Nautical history will be written Monday when the Victoria tug Cambrian Salvor leaves Concepcion, Chile, on a 10,000-mile haul to Japan with a fully-armed 30,000-ton battleship in tow.

Nautical history will be written Monday when the Victoria tug Cambrian Salvor leaves Concepcion, Chile, on a 10,000-mile haul to Japan with a fully-armed 30,000-ton battleship in tow.

The epic voyage combines one of the longest tows in history with one of the largest ships ever strung on the end of a deep-sea towline.

FIVE KNOTS

Donald Elworthy, an official of Island Tug and Barge Ltd., owners of the Cambrian Salvor, said yesterday the company hopes the salvage vessel and its tow will average five knots over the cross-Pacific route. (See story page 7.)

The Chilean battleship Almirante Latorre will carry her 10 14-inch guns, 14 six-inch guns and smaller armament as well as her huge engines.

During the First World War the vessel bore the illustrious name HMS Canada and was one of the most powerful capital ships on the high seas. Laid down at Vickers yard in Newcastle, England, in 1911, the battleship was under construction for the Chilean government at the outbreak of war and was taken over by the Royal Navy.

She was refitted in England after hostilities ceased and finally found her way into the navy which had first ordered her.

CREW OF 27

On her way to a Japanese breaking yard she will be handled by a crew of 27 on the Cambrian Salvor and five in her own quarters. The tug is commanded by a Dutchman, Capt. James Van Comodo.

Cambrian Salvor is a sister ship of the famed Sudbury II, also operated by Island Tug and Barge, and is one of the most powerful afloat.

Tibetans Aiding Indians

BOMBAY (CP)—As more streams of Tibetan refugees follow the exiled Dalai Lama down to the Assam plains through the jungles of northern India, a wave of sympathy for them is sweeping the country.

Offers of help are pouring from towns and villages. Relief committees have been formed in all the main cities, and have been receiving a constant flow of wheat, rice, medicines, kitchen utensils and clothes.

Berlin Post 'Very Iffy' Says Pearson

OTTAWA (UPI)—Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson was noncommittal yesterday on a report he was being considered as top man for a United Nations' authority in Berlin. "It's a very 'iffy' suggestion," he said.

The creation of such a post would be dependent upon a summit conference.

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—A storm of hurricane fierceness struck this island city about dawn Thursday. It grounded a tanker, sank a fishing boat and blew railroad cars from their tracks.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

Some people won't read a book unless they are settled in a chair, or in bed. Other people can't or won't read at all. Members of both these groups look with mixed suspicion and ridicule at people like me.

I am one of those who sometimes read in unusual places. If I'm reading a book as I get off a bus, I will continue reading it all the way down the street, until I enter the door of the office.

Sure as sunrise, one clod will accost me along the route and say fatuously:

Not Much of a Trick

It isn't much of a trick to observe trees, cars and pedestrians out of the corner of the eye, while soaking up the message from the printed page. But those who have never done it, won't believe it.

Waitresses are especially hostile toward people who read. A stubborn waitress will hover for as long as a minute with a ham sandwich poised above a customer's head.

Reading Between Lights

I mean reading between traffic lights. In my cluttered glove compartment I have at present an old pocket book of Ogden Nash verse. When I am stopped by a red light, I soothe my frustration with some of these wry and neatly-fashioned comments on human foibles.

I flatter myself that one part of the mind is aware of the color of the traffic light. As "Heh! Heh! Must be an interesting book."

It disturbs him to see a person read and walk at the same time. Why, I wonder? Is it because the walking reader looks as though he might bump into something? I've never done that, so far.

waiting for him to move aside a book or paper. If the customer is stubborn too, he won't yield. At last the waitress, with a heavy sigh of martyrdom, will plunk down the dish on the clear part of the table.

Automobile reading is the habit that really horrifies people. I don't mean reading while driving. I have never gone that far—although I have often read a book while riding as a passenger.

soon as it changes, away goes the book into the glove compartment, and down goes the foot on the accelerator. I don't think I'm any slower off the mark than those who just use the time staring into space.

But sometimes I have looked up from the book and caught a driver in the next lane staring at me with alarm. This piece is to assure him that he has nothing to worry about.

Cocktails for Opera But Ballet Goes Dry

TORONTO (UPI)—Toronto will fete the Metropolitan Opera Company with a $3,000 canapés-and-cocktails welcome, but no reception is planned for the Bolshoi Ballet.

Mayor Nathan Phillips said the Met is brought to Toronto by the Rotary Club, a charitable organization, and this kind of project rates a party.

However, he said, the Bolshoi Ballet, due in June, is a professional group and there is a world of difference.

Courtroom Parade

One Sentence to Come After Three for Thefts

Concurrent prison terms totalling three years were handed down in three district courts yesterday to Edward Melville Smith, no fixed address, for breaking, entering and theft.

First, in Colwood police court Wednesday afternoon, he was sentenced to two years by Magistrate A. I. Thomas for breaking into and robbing homes in View Royal and Happy Valley in December, 1957.

In Saanich police court yesterday he was sentenced to two and a half years for breaking into the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Craig, 2501 Sinclair, on Dec. 21, 1957, and stealing goods valued at almost $9,000 while the Craigs were away.

This sentence was made concurrent with that handed down by Magistrate Thomas.

Later yesterday, Smith appeared in Sidney police court, where Magistrate D. G. Ashby sentenced him to three years, also concurrent, for a similar offence in December, 1957, at a home in Sidney.

Smith is still to appear Monday in Esquimalt court for sentencing in connection with a different charge.

Michael John Hogan also no fixed address, was given six month jail terms, concurrent, for his share in the Saanich and Sidney robberies. Smith had a long previous record; Hogan had none.

RCMP at Sidney believe they have halted a recent outbreak of gasoline thefts with the sentencing in their court yesterday of Herbert Leggett, no fixed address.

Leggett was fined $100 for theft of gasoline, and another $100 for attempted theft.

Glen Lageri, 1168 Caledonia, was remanded to June 2 for preliminary hearing when he appeared in Saanich court yesterday charged with criminal negligence in the operation of a car, causing the death last Saturday night of Mrs. Edna Berreth, 1711 Mortimer.

Also in Saanich court, Kerry Gordon Greenwood, 1298 Derby, was placed on bond of $250 for six months, after pleading guilty to wilful damage involving a Camrose Crescent home and a Saanich bulldozer.

Restitution for the damage had been made, court was told.

Patrick Joseph O'Brien, no fixed address, was convicted in city police court of attempted break-in and entry, and remanded to May 26 for sentence.

He was found guilty after being arrested by city police at about 12:55 a.m., May 13, at the rear door of a printing shop on Wharf Street, transom of which had been broken.

Leonard R. J. Sam, 2854 Glen Terrace, changed an earlier plea to one of guilty in city police court yesterday, on a careless driving charge.

Accused was driver of a car which, at 9:40 p.m. March 22, turned left on Douglas at Caledonia into a Langford ambulance rushing victims of a Malahat accident to hospital.

He was fined $50, and restricted to driving for business only for two months.

Falcon Flew 'Coupe' To Nest with Ford

NEW YORK (AP)—Ford Motor Company grabbed the name "Falcon" for its new small cars just 20 minutes before the Chrysler Corporation tried to register it, says the Automobile Manufacturers' Association. So the Chrysler small car will be called the "Valiant." General Motors plans a small car called "Corvair."

Edmonton Shooting

Jealous Youth Gets Life Term

EDMONTON (CP)—An Alberta Supreme Court jury has found George Stanley Williamson, 19, guilty of manslaughter. Williamson, charged with murder in the March 16 shooting death of high school student Howard Gates, was sentenced to life imprisonment by Mr. Justice Peter Giesbrecht.

Gates was fatally shot as he walked in the Ross Sheppard High School in Edmonton's West End. He was with Diane Kane, a former girl friend of Williamson.

Defence Counsel Kenneth Crockett maintained there was no premeditation in the shooting. Williamson, in a police statement admitted as evidence at the trial, admitted he had shot Gates.

Mr. Crockett said Williamson was upset when Miss Kane broke off their relationship. He then outlined a series of events that took place on the day before the shooting which he said brought the situation to an explosion point.

TARGET SHOOTING

Testimony showed Williamson had been target shooting before going to the high school March 16 to meet a friend. Defence counsel, in a 30-minute address to the jury, said the gun was still in Williamson's car and the boy had not intended to use it to shoot at anyone.

Williamson testified he "went mad" when he saw Miss Kane with Gates. Mr. Crockett said in the heat of passion that developed Williamson shot Gates.

BEYOND DOUBT

Crown prosecutor J. W. K. Shortreed said it was proven beyond all doubt that Williamson intended to fire the .22-calibre rifle at Gates. He asked for a verdict of murder.

Mr. Crockett said he did not plan to appeal the sentence.

Typhoid in Jammed Jail Gives Johannesburg Jitters

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI)—The recent death of five prisoners in Johannesburg's big medieval prison where prisoners are jammed five and six to a cell has touched off a typhoid scare in this city.

Fear of a typhoid outbreak tied in with a mounting wave of criticism against government officials who allegedly are closing their eyes to the beginning of an outbreak that could sweep Johannesburg.

"The Fort" is the city's main prison where African men and women are held while awaiting trial, or to serve short sentences for minor convictions.

Rumors of a possible typhoid epidemic began circulating in Johannesburg April 12 when hospital authorities confirmed to prison officials that two prisoners undergoing treatment were suffering from typhoid.

Prison officials have turned down requests for an inspection of the buildings made by Johannesburg newspapers and medical doctors.

Eye-witnesses said water for the prisoners is provided through a single bucket on the floor of the cells with a communal mug attached with a string.

I Let British Army Escape at Dunkirk

Churchill Didn't Appreciate Proof of Sporting Spirit

No decision which I have had to make during the course of this war was graver than that to attack Russia.

I had always maintained that we ought at all costs to avoid waging war on two fronts, and you may rest assured that I pondered long and anxiously over Napoleon and his experiences in Russia. Why, then, you may ask, this war against Russia, and why at the time that I selected?

In actual fact my decision to settle the issue with Russia by force of arms was taken as soon as I became convinced that Britain was determined to remain stubborn.

IRREPARABLE BREACH
Churchill was quite unable to appreciate the sporting spirit of which I had given proof by refraining from creating an irreparable breach between the British and ourselves.

Due to a misunderstanding, the final instalments of Hitler's last testament were not sent for the recent Colonist series. The syndicate responsible has now rectified their omission and the articles will appear as a separate series of three, commencing today.

We did, indeed, refrain from annihilating them at Dunkirk. We ought to have been able to make them realize that the acceptance by them of the hegemony established in Europe would bring them inestimable advantages.

PEACE ELUDES

Even by the end of July, 1940—one month, that is, after the defeat of France—I realized that peace was once again eluding our grasp. A few weeks later I knew that we should not succeed in invading Britain before the advent of the autumnal gales because we had not succeeded in acquiring complete command of the air. In other words, I realized that we should never succeed in invading Britain.

WOULD HAVE GONE ON
The war, then, would have gone on and on—a war in which, behind the British, the Americans would have played an increasingly active role.

The importance of the war potential of the United States, the progress made in armaments—both in our own camp and in that of our enemies—the proximity of the English coast—all these things combined to make it highly inadvisable for us to become bogged down in a war of long duration.

IT'S ALWAYS TIME
For time—and it's always time, you notice—would have been increasingly against us. In order to persuade Britain to pack up, to compel her to make peace, it was essential to rob her of hope of being able still to confront us, on the continent itself, with an adversary of a stature equal to our own. We had no choice, we had at all costs to strike the Russian element out of the European balance sheet.

MORTAL THREAT
We had another reason, equally valid, for our action—the mortal threat that Russia constituted to our existence. For it was absolutely certain that one day or other she would attack us.

Our one and only chance of vanquishing Russia was to take the initiative, for to fight a defensive war against Russia was not practical.

We dared not allow the Red Army the advantage of the terrain, place our Autobahns at the disposal of its swiftly onrushing armour, and our railways at the disposal of its troops and its supplies.

IN SWAMPS AND MUD

If we took the offensive we could, indeed, defeat the Red Army on its own ground, in the swamps and in the vast and muddy expanses; but in a civilized country we could not have done so. We should simply have been providing Russia with a springboard with which to leap upon the whole of Europe and destroy it.

Why 1941? Because, steadily increasing power of our Western enemies, if we were to act at all, we had to do so with the least possible delay.

STALIN BUSY
Nor, mind you, was Stalin doing nothing.

On two fronts, time was against us. The real question was not, therefore, "Why June 22, 1941?" but rather: "Why not earlier still?"

But for the difficulties created for us by the Italians and their idiot campaign in Greece, I should have attacked Russia a few weeks earlier.

MAIN PROBLEM

For us the main problem was to keep the Russians from moving for as long as possible, and my own personal nightmare was the fear that Stalin might take the initiative before me.

Another reason was that the raw materials, which the Russians were withholding were essential to us.

In spite of their obligations their rate of delivery decreased steadily and there was a real danger that they might suddenly cease altogether.

NO ALTERNATIVE

If they were not prepared to give us of their own free will the things we had to have, then we had no alternative but to go and take them, in situ and by force.

After Molotov's visit to Berlin in November it became clear to me that sooner or later Stalin would abandon us and go over to the enemy.

I therefore decided, as soon as Molotov departed, that I would settle accounts with Russia as soon as fair weather permitted.

(Over-riding all other hatreds in Hitler's mind was his obsession about the Jews. Time after time he returns to this theme.)

It is one of the achievements of National Socialism that it was the first to face the Jewish problem in a realistic manner.

National Socialism has tackled the Jewish problem by action and not by words. It has risen in opposition to the Jewish determination to dominate the world; it has attacked them everywhere and in every sphere of activity; it has flung them out of the positions they have usurped; it has pursued them in every direction, determined to purge the German world of the Jewish poison.

IF I WIN

If I win this war, I shall put an end to Jewish world power and I shall deal the Jews a mortal blow, from which they will not recover. But if I lose the war that does not by any means mean that their triumph is assured, for then they themselves will lose their heads. They will become so arrogant that they will evoke a violent reaction against them.

THEY WILL CONTINUE

They will, of course, continue to run with the hare and hunt with the hounds, to claim the privileges of citizenship in every country and, without sacrificing their pride, continue to remain above all members of the Chosen Race.

The shifty, the shame-faced Jew will disappear and will be replaced by a Jew vainglorious and bombastic. In saying all this, I promise you I have been quite free of all racial hatred. It is, in any case, undesirable that one race should mix with other races.

ANCIENT RACES

I have never regarded the Chinese or the Japanese as being inferior to ourselves. They belong to ancient civilizations, and I admit freely that their past history is superior to our own. They have the right to be proud of their past, just as we have the right to be proud of the civilization to which we be-

Remnants of Gallant Army

Stream of weary, battle-scarred troops snakes way across Dunkirk beaches as fleet of little ships defied withering air bombardment to effect rescue. Hitler maintained he deliberately allowed British forces to escape.

Before committing suicide amid the ruins of Berlin, Adolf Hitler reviewed the wreckage of his dreams. Remarkable testament was taken down by aide, Martin Bormann and hidden.

Faith in Northwest

IT requires courage to invest $3,000,000 these days in a single venture predicated on the outfall of the future. Since the inception of Vancouver Island's ferry problems a few years ago, the Black Ball steamship interests on Puget Sound have shown faith and confidence in Vancouver Island's future of the kind that is followed up by action. On Monday, Black Ball Transport Inc. will witness the launching of the Mv. Coho, its new 341-foot ferry destined for intercity service between Victoria and Seattle, and also the shortest island-mainland water gap—Port Angeles-Victoria. The new ferry is expected to be in service in November, with a capacity of 108 cars and 1,000 passengers.

Backing up the progressive move which led to the laying down of the Coho's keel is the confidence of the owners. Mr. L. V. Venable, vice-president of the Black Ball firm, has put on record plans for a definite program of traffic development on the two routes to be served. Victoria's winter tourist season, together with coastal freight carrying between two American ports, is being counted on to make year-around operation profitable. The Mv. Coho, believes Mr. Venable, will be joined in time by other ferries of the same capacity as a growing volume of traffic may require.

Important as it will be to Victoria to have this direct link with Seattle maintained in the coming autumn, with the stimulus this will be to its winter season, there are other considerations as well. The Port Angeles-Victoria route could become a main channel for tourist entrance to Vancouver Island from American points. Black Ball believes that this will eventuate. There is no doubting the value of this continuing link on a scheduled basis between two established commercial centres in the Pacific Northwest which, pioneered by the fading triangle run, otherwise might have lapsed.

On all counts Victoria will wish the Black Ball ferry venture the success such initiative deserves.

Government House

THE new Government House is a credit to its builders and to the capital of British Columbia. The decor and furnishings, owing much to the taste and generosity of Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross, are a matter of pride, the workmanship is excellent and the whole effect is not only pleasing but sumptuously appropriate. It fits admirably the dignity of a state residence and the official first home of the province.

One CCF MLA has raised a carping note, but this is typical of CCF philosophy, which seeks to exploit a class distinction based on envy. It is also one reason why the CCF fares so poorly at the polls. In an age when the average home has amenities and appointments far beyond the dreams of a few short decades ago, the splendours of Government House are simply an extension of what has come to be recognized as the grace of living.

With two receptions having been held, one embracing members of the Legislature and the other a press view party, the new Cary Castle may be said to have "opened." Mr. and Mrs. Ross are happily installed after their enforced absence of two years, and workmen are busy tidying up the few matters awaiting completion. Soon all will be in readiness for the royal visit and for the social and ceremonial occasions in which many Victorians are enabled to take part.

Once the new garden layouts are fashioned as planned and public access provided Victoria will have an official show place of beauty second to none in the country. Government House as it has risen from the ashes of its predecessor will add immensely to the attractions of the city. It should prove to be an asset of great interest to visitors and residents alike.

One notes that a special reception will be held this weekend for the construction crews and their wives, and this is felicitous recognition of their fine work. It is perhaps ironic that it happens that the first public visitors to see over Government House should be a group from out of town, a privilege so far not made available to local residents. One trusts it will be possible for Victorians soon to be given this opportunity to see at first hand a building which doubtless will be their pride but for which they nevertheless help to foot the bill.

Back-Dated Law Changes

PEOPLE with a sense of fair play must find it hard to condone the methods which the British Columbia government used this week to win in the end a contest it had lost in the law courts, by the device of changing the law to suit itself and back-dating the change by two years. In this way the government caused three Vancouver branches of the Canadian Legion to be liable for payment of taxes which, in the judgment of the courts, could not have been collected from them under the law as originally framed.

The cases arose out of the refusal of the three Legion branches to collect amusement tax on bingo games and pay the proceeds to the Crown. The defendants based their denial of liability on the then existing statutory definition of places of amusement, and the courts sustained the argument that their bingo games did not come within that definition. Refusing to accept the verdict of the courts, the government this week passed orders-in-council not only extending the statutory description to take in Legion bingo games from now on but also declaring them to have been places of amusement two years ago.

Little fault could be found with the government's action if it related only to events after the changing of the law. It is the retroactive application of the amendment which is not acceptable. Such a device is comparable to changing the rules of a race or competition to wrest victory from the winner and give it to another contestant, who in this case is the government itself.

This is not the first time retroactive changes have been made in British Columbia laws to repair government error or oversight—and in this instance without the legislature being consulted. People whose interpretation of the law is in good faith—and is upheld by the courts—should not be penalized under changes long afterwards. The practice is no more defensible than varying the terms of a contract after something has been done under it.

Interpreting the News

Thrust-and-Parry Experts

By JOSEPH MACSWEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

STATE Secretary Christian Herter, of the United States, is using the prospect of a summit meeting as choice bargaining bait in Geneva. It is thought that this is the lure for which Russia's Premier Khrushchev hungers.

Such thinking was apparently in the background of Tuesday's report from Geneva which told how Herter explained to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in a blunt way that President Eisenhower will back away from a summit conference unless the foreign ministers' talks go in good faith.

It was not the first warning. Eisenhower and Herter both went on U.S. television before the Geneva conference, explaining in measured terms the American position.

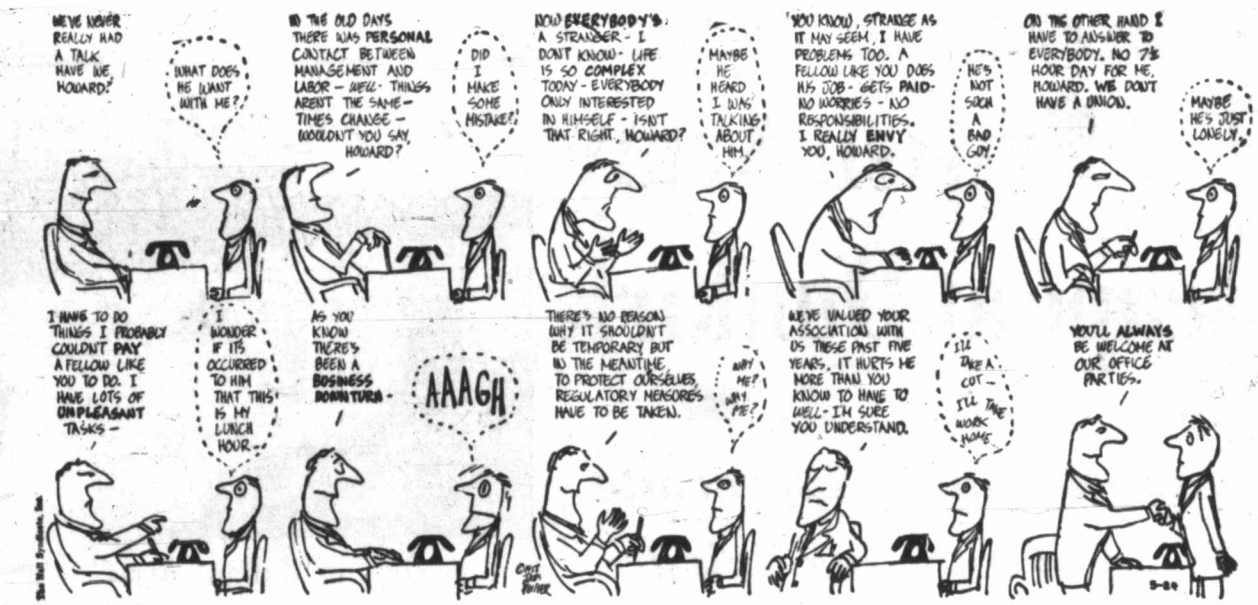

The view is widely held in the U.S. that Khrushchev not only wants a summit conference, but also wants it to be held on American soil—possibly at San Francisco, or perhaps at the United Nations headquarters in New York.

The possibility of such a meeting conjures in uneasy minds pictures of the ebullient Khrushchev staging a sort of barnstorming campaign from coast to coast in the U.S., making propaganda in his rough-and-ready way.

Khrushchev is said to have been impressed with the performance of his deputy, Anastas Mikoyan, who visited the U.S. last year and made numerous public appearances and speeches. Khrushchev may well believe that anything Anastas can do, Nikita can do better.

The summit question, of course, is only one of the many angles in the thrust-and-parry of the Geneva negotiations. On the Communist side, it appears that Gromyko is trying to arouse distrust of Britain by the French and the West Germans.

Thinking Aloud

Letter from London

By TOM TAYLOR

GERALD WARING remarked the other day that Mike Pearson's greatest handicap was his ability to see the other person's point of view. That is to say that the unprejudiced mind is a drawback, which in fact so often it seems to be. There is no room for it in party politics, for instance, which is what Mr. Waring was talking about.

Outside of politics the one-track mind seems to meet with success too. It is probably easier to go through life untroubled by an opposite view, but ideally at least the reasonable man who can weigh the pros and cons before rendering judgment should be best of all. And yet frequently the spoils seem to go to those of biased mind bent on seeing only one side of a question.

Talking of Mr. Pearson I saw him on TV the other evening and he seems to have aged. The youthful zeal has gone. No doubt the burden on his shoulders presses up to change his looks, and while he is what we call a middle-aged man his years are such we shouldn't expect him to be boyish, exactly. One glance in my own mirror confirms me on this point. Yet undoubtedly Mr. Pearson is graver of manner than he was of yore.

The Ottawa Journal has noticed he doesn't always wear a bow tie now and wonders if this is a portent. But I suppose that leading a political party is enough to turn any man grey in the face as well as in the hair.

At the Royal Roads graduation Defence Minister Peakes told the cadets he didn't know how they could be so smart with so little time for parade-ground exercises. Apparently their study programs use up most of their daylight hours. Their drill precision is all the more remarkable if this is so. It rather suggests also that it shouldn't take weeks and weeks to make a guardsman, let us say.

If these young boys can master the niceties of marching and parade manoeuvre in their spare time then regular army recruits should be first-class privates in the twinkling of an eye, as it were. But then permanent soldiers must just keep at it lest they grow rusty and don't show up well when a VIP inspects them.

A young colleague of last war vintage tells me that the sight of his old sergeant-major heading a contingent in the Victoria Day parade brought nostalgia rushing to his eyes. He hadn't seen him since demobilization 14 years ago. That is the way with many ex-servicemen. For a decade after doffing the uniform they couldn't care less about military things, but memories of wartime association gradually creep back until they become precious.

After all, active military service is the most vivid experience a man can have and it is not surprising that in time his recollections take hold of him and he renews his interest, this time vicariously. What he has to guard against then is any tendency to spice his conversation with too much "When I was overseas..." etc.

Some proof of renewed interest in former days and veterans affairs generally is supplied by the Legionary, which in its May issue is able to report a circulation of over 255,000. I gather this is much more than once it had. Always the Legion could depend on a hard core of the faithful, mostly veterans of the first war. I would suppose the recent advance of the Legionary, indicates more active participation by veterans of the second war, which is a natural progression.

They are reaching the age when their war service looms more importantly in their scale of values. They are wise, too, for the Canadian Legion and other veterans' organizations have been a godsend to the returned man.

Family House for Commonwealth

By RICHARD L. THOMAS

IN another two years Marlborough House in London's stately Pall Mall should be ready for occupation as the first Commonwealth House in the history of this family of nations. Its main purpose will be to provide a meeting place for Commonwealth prime ministers in London, and for other conferences on Commonwealth and Empire affairs; but it is also hoped to make it a centre for Commonwealth visitors in a wider sense.

Marlborough House was built originally by the architect of St. Paul's Cathedral for the first Duke of Marlborough in 1710. There have been many alterations since Sir Christopher Wren finished with it; and it was acquired by the Crown as a royal residence in 1817. King George V was born there, and Queen Alexandra and Queen Mary died there — and the Duke of Marlborough was, of course, an ancestor of Sir Winston Churchill.

It would have been difficult to find a residence more richly associated with Commonwealth history. It was from there that the Duke of Windsor when Prince of Wales set out on his early tours of the Commonwealth, and it was from there that Queen Mary waved a sad farewell to the funeral cortege of her son King George VI in 1952. History and tradition are entwined there and it is hoped that its new purpose will preserve the best in the past while preserving the future.

Discussions are now going on as to the pattern of the future. Plans are being prepared for modernization and some internal alterations — but not to the extent of destroying its character. It will have to be completely refurnished and this work will be undertaken by the Office of Works at public expense. The residence itself is a gift from the Queen to the Commonwealth.

It is hoped that it will be ready for its new purpose early in 1961. Present intentions are that it should house a Commonwealth library which would be open to all who could make use of it, and in some quarters it is hoped that it may provide the pattern for a Commonwealth House in each of the dominions and possibly in some of the larger colonies.

The main argument against the establishment of a new conception in London is that it tends to emphasize the centralization of the Commonwealth upon London whereas more and more the tendency is towards decentralization, with Commonwealth meetings in many parts of the Commonwealth. That is not intended. Marlborough House, like the Commonwealth and Empire, was acquired quite unintentionally. It was the spontaneous gift of the Queen, and its use as a Commonwealth centre will merely add to the facilities available in London. It does not mean that it is an attempt by the British government to re-orientate Commonwealth affairs back to London.

Indeed the hope has been expressed in influential quarters that it may inspire other governments to do likewise so that there will be a focal Commonwealth point in every part of the Commonwealth. Such developments would be of considerable value to students by making information on Commonwealth matters readily available, and by having a suitable building in every part of the Commonwealth for meetings of ministers. Whether that will happen will depend, in part, upon how effective Commonwealth House becomes in London.

For the present it seems likely to sidetrack another development which many people would like to have seen in London (and possibly emulated overseas) of providing some central spot where all Commonwealth interests could be housed in close proximity. At the moment high commissioners and agents-general are spread out over the West End with many spill-over offices farther afield. The difficulties associated with co-operative activities may be gauged from the fact that when a new Canada House was mooted (and since abandoned) a tentative suggestion that provincial agents-general should be housed in it was very coolly received. Australia had the same problem. There is obviously no wish of Canadian provincial governments and Australian state governments to be any more closely allied to their federal governments than they have to be. It is probably healthy.

The transformation of Marlborough House may do something, however, to provide a focal point for the Commonwealth in London. At the moment there is nothing except the Commonwealth Relations Office and the Colonial Office. The idea of a "family house" seems a useful development with the possibility of very useful consequences.

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

IN this age of widespread disrespect for a dollar, it is a surprise and a pleasure to encounter somebody who thinks a dollar is a substantial sum of money. I met one of them on a Sunday afternoon while out motoring in the country.

To ever increasing numbers of people a dollar is what you call small change. In the eyes of children, for example, the dollar now occupies the status the nickel used to have. Offer a child a nickel now, and you affront him. While the supermarkets make a big thing out of offering canned goods at two cents off, and while TV advertisers shout about three cents off the regular price, the fact remains that a dollar is chicken feed to very large groups of the community. I know of men who carry nothing but $100 bills in their wallets and look upon lesser amounts as petty cash.

Sunday afternoon, out driving in the country, I saw a bicycle lying on the shoulder of the highway and a man down in the ditch retrieving empty bottles that had been flung out by motorists. Glimpsing a large wire basket on the handle bars almost full of bottles, I drew up and walked back for a conversation.

He was a man of about fifty. He had the narrow face and bigoted eye of a man who would rather make one honest dollar than a hundred questionable ones.

"Yes," he said tersely. "On Sunday afternoons I ride along the roads and collect from $3 to $5 worth of empties. That pays for all the meat my wife and I consume in a week."

He won't die rich. But he won't die poor.

Bring Back the Strap

Punishment in Schools

(From The Edmonton Journal)

THE issue of corporal punishment in schools is receiving considerable attention in the United States these days.

A grand jury in Brooklyn, after a year spent investigating lawlessness in the schools, recommended a return of paddling students for serious misbehavior, although the bylaws of New York's board of education forbid corporal punishment.

The president of the National Science Teachers' Association told a recent congressional hearing that his organization favors strapping as a last resort in serious disciplinary problems. And the magazine Scholastic Teacher reported that a national opinion poll found two out of every three American adults believed school discipline was too lax and recommended strapping for grade schools.

The two strongest opponents of corporal punishment in American schools have been the "progressive" National Education Association and the National Association of Secondary School Principals. But even the NEA is coming around. A spokesman for that group said recently that the threat of punishment is the best deterrent to bad behavior and in order to keep the threat valid "you have to be able to whip them sometimes."

It was hence with some surprise that we read a paragraph in a recent forecast which was almost lyrical in concept. Wrote Mr. Weatherman: "For the fourth consecutive day over Eastern Ontario, the sun rose in an almost cloudless sky. This unusually clear weather has allowed the undiluted sunshine to gradually raise the maximum temperatures about 15 degrees above normal even though true tropical air is still some distance west."

Has the forecast leopard changed his spots and decided to write poetically instead of jerkily? Or has he just had a fine long run of good luck in his gauging and plotting and can't refrain from breaking into rhapsodies about it?

The secondary school principals' group, however, still wholeheartedly rejects the idea of corporal punishment on the grounds that it may "humiliate" older pupils, may create a personal battle between teacher and pupil and may "alienate" parents.

With the second argument we are somewhat in agreement. It is a difficult matter for a teacher to impose a strapping without it starting a personal feud between teacher and student.

But this matter of "humiliating" students and "alienating" parents is rather difficult to swallow. Surely a student whose behavior is such that he justly merits a strapping would be vastly benefited by the inclusion of a little humility in his make-up. As for alienation of parents, we suspect changing public opinion will take care of that.

Crux of the issue lies in the proper punishment being meted out to suit the circumstances, and administration of the punishment being fair and impartial.

We don't know of anyone who subscribes to the notion that students should be soundly beaten at every slight provocation. But clearly the theory that students should never under any circumstances feel the bite of the strap is losing most of its supporters.

Forecaster's Rhapsody

(From The Ottawa Journal)

IN general, weather forecasters are men of few words, uttering their prophecies in terse, staccato, almost telegraphic terms. A rare exception to this style occurs when they rush into defence of informed but inaccurate guessing, bursting forth with a jargon of "pressure areas" or "Bermuda Highs" to confuse and confound their critics.

It was hence with some surprise that we read a paragraph in a recent forecast which was almost lyrical in concept. Wrote Mr. Weatherman: "For the fourth consecutive day

Yet she is blind and ignorant in all.

I know I'm one of Nature's little things,
Yet to the least and vilest things am thrall.

Independence Shaky

Courts, Schools Attacked

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

As you probably know, the American theatre is now a battleground between "method" actors and "anti-method" actors.

What is "the method"? It's the system of teaching acting that was worked out by the legendary Constantin Stanislavski, director of the Moscow Art Theatre. Stanislavski died in 1938 at 75, but he left two books, "An Actor Prepares" and "Building a Character," which have since become the bibles of all "method" addicts.

Stanislavski was the kind of person who spent his life talking and writing, and

Takes in Many Things

That transformation—into a "spiritually creative" person—takes in many things. The aspiring actor first has to learn how to free his body from all physical tensions. Then he has to do the same thing with his emotions. Then, when he gets to the stage of rehearsing and playing a part, he has to learn how to disregard the audience.

According to Stanislavski, the audience might as well not be there as far as the performer is concerned. He is, for the time being, a certain character in a certain play.

Majority Swear By It

That—and a great many other things besides—is the famous method. As I said, many American actors—they say it's the majority now—swear by it. Many others think that the whole thing is utterly ridiculous.

Reading "Stanislavski's Legacy" I felt sure of one thing. The "method" made such a tremendous stir because Stanislavski was such a tremendous personality. He was a priest of the theatre, an inexhaustible source of inspiration, a man with the gift of making people believe fervently in everything he said.

Your Health Department

Garden Dangers Rival Enjoyment

This is another article of public interest prepared for The Daily Colonist by the Victoria-Enquillat health department.

Everyone in Victoria enjoys gardening. But like all other parts of the home, the garden can be hazardous.

Look over these following suggestions and try to follow them:

1. Take frequent rests and ease into the work.

Space Work

2. Space projects over a number of weekends, not just one.

3. Keep tools sharp and in good repair.

4. If more than one person is working in a small area, be extra careful in the use of tools. Hoe and rake handles can cause injury.

Points Down

5. When putting tools down, place them where they can't be tripped over and turn points and edges down.

6. When working in the garden, clean tools and hang them on hooks or racks.

7. When lifting heavy objects, get help if the load is too heavy for one person.

Hat in Sun

8. Wear loose but not floppy clothes, thick-soled, low-heeled shoes and work gloves. If the sun is bright, wear a hat.

9. Exercise care when handling and applying insecticides and fertilizers. Some insecticides are very poisonous to human beings. Wash hands and exposed parts of the body after working with them.

Out of Sight

A special note should be added if children are about. Sharp tools invite curious hands. Keep cutting tools well out of the way. Poisons also attract kiddies and some to the extent that they sample weed killer, fertilizer, or plain dirt without thinking. Remember the poison control centre at Royal Jubilee Hospital should this happen.

Disconnect

Power equipment should be disconnected in such a way that it might not be started while an inquisitive finger or foot is near it.

Gardening is healthful. It gets us out in the fresh air, helps us use our bodies physically and improves our overall outlook. By considering the safety aspect, the fullest benefit cannot be marred by an untimely accident.

Author Pulls Canada to Bits

By LEROY POPE

NEW YORK (UPI)—Canadians got some harsh rejoinders in a book published yesterday for the pin pricks and brickbats they have been directing at the United States in recent years.

They came from Miriam Chapin, a lady originally from Vermont who has been living in Canada for the past 27 years. In "Contemporary Canada" (Oxford University Press, New York), her third book about Canada.

Without ever saying so, she conveys the strong impression that her 27 years in the Dominion have not convinced her that Canada is going to survive as an independent nation—or that Canada is making any real progress in that direction.

WOULD FEEL NO PAIN

For example, she says bluntly that if the three western provinces were somehow to become part of the United States tomorrow—their inhabitants wouldn't feel the slightest pain.

She is equally skeptical about the new unity Canadian cent working hours and high profits came to an end. The Yankees were willing to grapple with the new labor and competitive problems—the Canadians were not.

Mrs. Chapin says Canadians are fond of bragging that their courts and schools are better than those in the U.S. She doesn't think that at all.

ANTIQUATED

Canada's courts, she says, are antiquated. Canadian justice is harsh and capricious and the Canadian attitude toward lawbreakers often is vindictive and cruel. Also, Canada's criminal record is statistically bad. She comments that, with one-third as many people as England, Canada has three times as many folks in prisons, and that many federal prisons in Canada are bad and most local jails unspeakable.

She describes the hodge-podge lower school system of the various provinces in great detail and with growing distaste. She says most of the schools are badly equipped and understaffed and that illiteracy and non-attendance are more common in all parts of rural Canada than is generally admitted.

She claims anti-semitism is rampant in much of Canada, and that the descendants of the Negro slaves brought to the Maritimes long ago still are very much second-class Canadians—"the last to be hired and the first to be fired."

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE BREAKS DOWN FAT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fat... actually breaks it down. It is an established medical fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fat is broken down and forms a smooth, easy-flowing mix.

In your body, precious liver bile helps break down fat the same way. Many foods reach this digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down this fat... unblocks it... for easier and more complete digestion.

Carter's Little Liver Pills exclusive formula of natural, vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat in your body. So when you feel sluggish, bloated, nervous and need a laxative, get Carter's Little Liver Pills. Remember, Carter's not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat. Only 43¢.

CCF Will Be 'Out in Force'

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—The next British Columbia election will see the greatest provincial campaign in the history of the CCF party, says CCF leader Robert Strachan.

Steelmen Urge Wage Freeze

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two leading United States Steel executives, Roger Blough and Clifford Hood, have called upon the United Steelworkers Union to accept the industry's proposed one-year contract extension to help fight inflation and combat the inroads being made by cheap foreign steel.

David McDonald, president of the union, declined to comment on the remarks except to say "they have said nothing different from what they have said before."

Prairie Firms Bid to Pipe Oil from Peace

By ALEC MERRIMAN

Three Alberta pipeline companies have applied for permission to build the first pipeline to bring oil from British Columbia's rich Peace River area, Commercial Transport Minister Lyle Wicks said last night.

He said a pipeline from the Peace River would mean upwards of $2,000,000 a year to British Columbia in royalties, based on present production from existing oil fields.

Mr. Wicks said that because of the three conflicting applications he has called a public hearing on the pipeline question to start June 15.

"This would open up a totally new principle in B.C. and enable us to get B.C. oil to market," one observer said last night. "If there is a pipeline here more companies will be anxious to drill. They will know if they find oil they will have a market," he said.

ALL FROM CALGARY

The companies which have filed applications for a pipeline are Peace River Oil Pipeline B.C. Ltd., which proposes a line direct to Dawson Creek and another to Alberta to hook in with the Trans-Mountain Line at Edmonton, Alberta; Gibson Associated Oils Ltd. which proposes a pipeline to Taylor Flat on the PGE Railway and then to use the railway to take oil to Vancouver and a spurline to take oil to Dawson Creek; and Trans-Prairie Pipelines Ltd., which proposes to take its pipeline to Dawson Creek and then ship it by rail to Alberta.

All three companies have headquarters in Calgary, Mr. Wicks said.

'Missing' Man Left Teeth, Glasses Safely at Home

Leonard Emms, 65, of Ste. 1, 736 Courtney, is not missing after all.

His landlord told city police Wednesday the elderly man had left home May 1, leaving behind his glasses and false teeth, and had not been seen since. Late Wednesday came the answer. Mr. Emms has been a patient at Veterans' Hospital—since May 1.

Little U.S. Says NO

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Lower Regional Planning Board yesterday was told in effect to mind its own business.

Kenneth Waters, chairman of the board of supervisors of Point Roberts, a little piece of the United States, was commenting on a planning board suggestion that the point be administered by a Canada-U.S. commission.

Mr. Waters said the board should "confine its opinions to its own side of the line."

"We're getting a little tired of them getting the people all stirred up down there," he said. "There's two sets of governments and two sets of laws—ours will look after us."

The planning board said the point is dependent on Canada for its population and services—a situation it described as "completely absurd and really belongs in comic opera."

Huge Task Spurned City Salvage King Couldn't Care Less

The Italian liner Andrea Doria can stay right where it is on the floor of the Atlantic Ocean as far as Harold Elworthy, president of one of the world's largest salvage companies is concerned.

Island Tug and Barge Ltd.

president said last night in the wake of press reports linking his company with the liner that the salvage job is just not commercially feasible.

"We are not at all interested in the Andrea Doria. I don't even know just where it is. It might be in American territorial waters and we might have to have an act of congress to get to it," he added.

Reports that his firm was interested in the salvage job came from a United Press International dispatch purporting to quote an Island Tug and Barge official who is in Talcahuano, Chile, in connection with another job.

Mr. Elworthy believes that Norman Turner, the man quoted by the news agency, was either a victim of the language barrier or else made some joking remark that was taken seriously.

World's Finest Miles between Start and Stop!

Name any starting point you prefer—select your favorite destination—and imagine yourself bridging the distance in a new 1959 Cadillac.

What's it like? Well, in a word, it's—wonderful!

To begin with, it's wonderful just to sit there—cradled in the comfort of its cushions... surrounded by its Fleetwood luxury... and soothed by its marvellous quiet and steadiness of ride.

And how wonderful it is to be in command of the "car of cars."

A hill in the offing? A nudge of your foot carries you up and over with amazing alacrity.

A curve in the road ahead? The weight of your hand on the slender wheel makes you its master.

A traffic light gleaming red? The touch of your toe on that big, wide pedal brings you to the smoothest, surest stop imaginable.

And through it all, of course, there is the "indefinable magic of knowing" that this is a Cadillac—admired and respected by all who behold it.

In fact, when your appointed destination comes into view, you will probably regard it with reluctance. For when the miles past have been so pleasant, the miles ahead are always tempting.

But no matter where journey's end might find you, the proof will be abundant—from first start to final stop, a journey in a Cadillac is the finest distance between any two points.

If you haven't discovered this for yourself, we urge you to visit your Cadillac dealer soon.

He'll be happy to lend you the car and the keys at any time—and to give you the surprising facts about Cadillac's practicality.

IWA May Delay Strike Deadline

Labor Stand Incorrect?

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said last night "there is no such thing in this province as a no-contract, no-work agreement. The old collective agreement carries on until a new agreement is signed."

He saw no reason why the IWA said it was impossible to complete conciliation proceedings by June 16 contract expiry date. "It is subject to interpretation and subject to how seriously they are interested in negotiating," Mr Wicks said.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Policy makers of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) moved Thursday to postpone a June 16 strike deadline.

At the same time they named a representative to carry the union's side on a conciliation board being set up in the IWA's dispute with the British Columbia forestry industry.

A special convention of the 30,000-member union has been called for May 30 to consider the postponement of the June 16 deadline, in effect set up at the IWA annual convention earlier this year when it adopted a no-contract, no-work policy.

The current contract expires June 16 and conciliation proceedings are not expected to be completed by then.

The union seeks a 20 per cent wage increase.

'Summit' Leaders Of Underworld Indicted by U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty-seven delegates to the 1957 Apalachin underworld conclave were indicted Thursday for defying the government's attempts to determine its purpose.

It was one of the biggest federal crackdowns ever on the syndicate that allegedly controls organized crime in the United States.

Federal agents began a coast-to-coast roundup of the defendants shortly after sunrise. They were being held in bonds as high as $100,000 for appearance later in federal court here.

By the end of the day, 21 of the defendants had been arrested.

They face up to five years if convicted of conspiracy to obstruct federal justice.

Most of the 63 delegates to the underworld meeting were little known to the general public before the Apalachin, N.Y., meeting. But the government contends they

New Experience...

Gil Is Learning How It Feels to Be a Loser

By MILTON GROSS

NEW YORK (NANA) — After the Yankees were beaten, 13-6, Tuesday, Gil McDougald took his time getting home. When he arrived in Tenafly, N.J., he fixed himself a drink, broiled a steak over the grill, watched television and went to bed. There was no baseball talk between Gil and Lucille, his wife, although the Yankees were in last place, eight and a half games below the leaders and seven under .500.

"We don't talk baseball at home," Gil said. "Lucille knows I'll get mad if she says the wrong thing. This isn't something you'd discuss at home, although I may think about it."

happened to the once confident, composed champions. They're no longer confident, no longer composed, after seven losses in their last 10 games, a succession of errors of omission and commission in the field and an unfamiliar impotence at bat.

"It's disturbing everybody," Gil said. "The players are confused. I've never seen anything like this since I joined the club. There's no hitting, no fielding, no pitching at the right time. There are mental errors. We're pressing."

It shows up not only on the field, Gil said, but on the bench.

"There's no life in the club," said Gil. "It's pretty quiet on the bench. There's not much to yell about. When you're winning there's noise. You're riding the other club. This way it's not good for the club. It's got to have life. Now nobody wants to pep it up. They know it would be false. It'll be a long year, a long hot summer if we don't get out of this before our next trip. We could be in real trouble by then."

The next trip west starts May 30, but the beginning of defeatism may be beginning to grip some of the players.

"I never thought about losing before," McDougald continued. "I always thought positively. When a club's going bad you start to look for things to happen. Other clubs playing us used to say to themselves in the seventh, eighth and ninth, 'what's going to happen?' Maybe we're getting a little taste of it now. I don't know how to accept defeat on this club, especially after being with a winner." He joined the Yankees in 1951, immediately became a regular and has been on a winner every year except 1954.

Gil said manager Casey Stengel is probably taking this unusual and unexpected turn best of all. "The old man's a professional," McDougald said, as one pro about another. "He has lost a few games in his time, but you can't blame a manager when you lose. He hasn't hit for us or fielded for us."

The fact is, McDougald can't pinpoint the trouble. "I don't know what's wrong," the second baseman said. "I'm not doing any good and neither is anybody else. Usually when we went bad in other seasons there were one or two hot players to carry the club. This year we're all cold at the same time and nobody's doing the carrying." Although most of the Yankees have shied away from discussing their troubles, all, like McDougald, can see what has been happening, but only in retrospect.

"You see so many things wrong when you are losing," McDougald said. "Afterward you can always see a way in which you could have won the game. At the time you're playing a hitter you think you're playing him right, but afterward you wonder if you were in the right position for him. You begin wondering if you've been playing the hitters wrong all the time."

"When you see balls dribbling through the infield the way they've been doing against us you've got to begin wondering. When you can't hit you begin wondering if you ever could hit. You start thinking maybe your reflexes are slowing up, maybe you're going back.

"That's got to happen to everybody," Gil said, "and then you start pressing. Except for Yogi, who's the only one hitting the ball good, the whole club from Mickey down is pressing."

How it started, how to stop it or where it all will end nobody can say, but everybody keeps asking. Stengel doesn't know the answer. If general manager George Weiss does, he isn't answering.

He's playing hard to find, while the Yankees are finding it hard to play winning ball. He isn't finding it any harder to take than such as McDougald, one of the most decent of men who regards defeat as something almost dirty.

Shamrocks Lose Geordie But Battle Back to Win

NEW WESTMINSTER — Victoria Shamrocks, who showed Wednesday that they have their share of scoring power, proved here last night that they also have the ability to fight from behind.

Confused, demoralized and last night's score: VICTORIA 12 at New Westminster 10.

Next game: Saturday, Vancouver at Nanaimo.

behind, 9-5, late in the third quarter, Shamrocks battled back for a 12-10 victory over New Westminster's stumbling O'Keefe's.

It was the second straight win over New Westminster in as many nights for Norm Baker's Shamrocks, and left them in third place, only two points behind Vancouver Carlings.

It was also a most expensive win, costing the Shamrocks the services of goalie Geordie Johnston for an undetermined length of time. Johnston tore a ligament in his right leg in the second quarter, and was replaced by Don Hamilton for the rest of the game.

Johnston went off with the score 4-3 for the Shamrocks after being hurt on a scoring shot by Jack Bionda. Bionda promptly scored on Hamilton to tie it up, but Stu Smith sent the Shamrocks into the third quarter with a 5-4 lead with his second goal of the game.

SHAKY START

Hamilton got off to a shaky start, and O'Keefe's poured five unanswered goals past him in the first 12 minutes of the third quarter, grabbing a 9-5 lead as the Shamrocks faltered.

But they started moving again in the final minute of the quarter, as rookie defence-man Tom English got his first goal of the season at 14:48 and Al Gill made it 9-7 only 11 seconds later. In the final quarter, they simply ran away from O'Keefe's.

Jim McNeill scored on a neat effort in the first minute, and played Bionda has figured in 25 of New Westminster's 59 goals, scoring 13 and setting up 12. Against the Shamrocks, while O'Keefe's were losing 17-9 and 12-10, Bionda has scored six goals and assisted on five.

But O'Keefe's, who started off the season by whumping Nanaimo Labatts, 22-8, have now lost five straight games, and even a man with the color of a Bionda can't make up for a record like that.

Jack Barclay, about the only other bright light on the New Westminster club, scored three times last night, while Ivan Stewart, Don Sepka, Ken Oddy and Billy Jobb got a goal apiece.

As for the defending Mann Cup champions, they are finding out the hard way that they can't win games through the efforts of just one man, even if that man happens to be Jack Bionda.

In the four games he has played, Bionda has figured in 25 of New Westminster's 59 goals, scoring 13 and setting up 12. Against the Shamrocks, while O'Keefe's were losing 17-9 and 12-10, Bionda has scored six goals and assisted on five.

But O'Keefe's, who started off the season by whumping Nanaimo Labatts, 22-8, have now lost five straight games, and even a man with the color of a Bionda can't make up for a record like that.

Jack Barclay, about the only other bright light on the New Westminster club, scored three times last night, while Ivan Stewart, Don Sepka, Ken Oddy and Billy Jobb got a goal apiece.

Shoemaker Rides 3,401st Winner

Willie Shoemaker has reached another milestone in an illustrious riding career which has seen him ride to the winners' circle an average of more than 340 times a year.

Now behind only Johnny Longden, who is nearing 5,300 winners, Eddie Arcaro and retired Ted Atkinson on the North American continent. Shoemaker reached the 3,400 mark Wednesday, yesterday rode his 3,401st winner of a 10-year jockey career.

Today, racing resumes at Vancouver's Exhibition Park, where racing at the moment is on a four-days-a-week schedule.

ECONOMY

Example: you can save over $100 in gasoline costs with a Ford pickup Six—in just 2 years of normal mileage! The tremendous advantage of Ford's short-stroke Six was proved in Economy Showdown U.S.A., the biggest independent tests of trucks' gas mileage ever conducted. In every kind of driving, '59 Fords beat the other 5 makes of ½-ton pickup Sixes that were tested. Ford Sixes identical with the ones made in Canada averaged 25.2% more miles per gallon! And you can have the same gas-stretching short-stroke design in Ford Truck V-8's.

STRENGTH

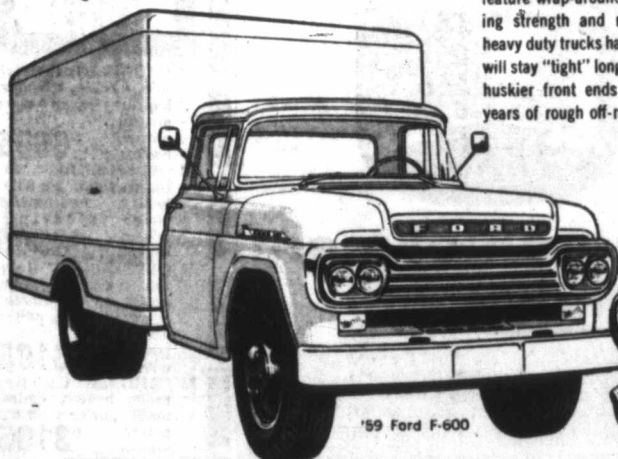

Ford Trucks have already proved that they outlast other makes. And Ford's '59 models are tougher than ever! Extra ruggedness starts right with the smallest pickup, which has the strongest frame of any ½-ton footer... and the heaviest-rated front axle, too. Styleside pickup bodies feature wrap-around body corners for outstanding strength and rigidity. Ford medium and heavy duty trucks have new cab construction that will stay "tight" longer... and, in many models, huskier front ends and frames that can take years of rough off-road work.

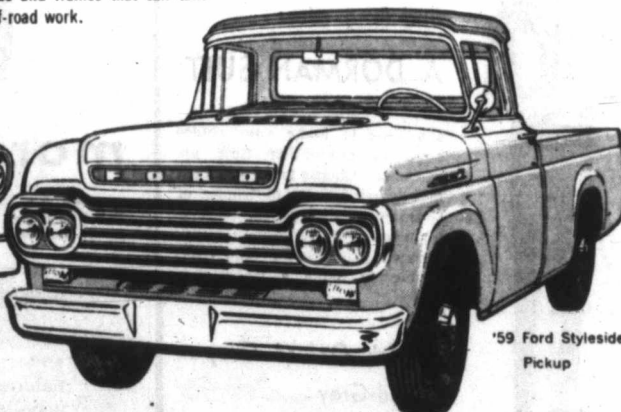

COMFORT

Comfort is a big "plus" in '59 Ford Trucks! Ford cabs have ample room for three. Vents high on the hood supply clean, dry fresh air in any weather. Suspended pedals eliminate toe-board holes to keep out dust and drafts. Non-sag seats help drivers stay fresh and alert. In the smart Custom Cab there's a full five inches of foam rubber in the seat, two inches in the seat back. And Ford light duty models give you the smoothest ride of any conventional truck! Test Ford Truck comfort yourself—see your dealer soon and try a '59 model on the road.

Bookmaker's Fines His 'Business Tax'

George Grainger, 3161 Donald, was fined $1,000 in city court yesterday after pleading guilty to keeping a place for the recording of bets.

A plea for leniency for his client was given by defence counsel Sinclair Elliott. A pattern of betting agencies had been set up across Canada in the past, he said, in which one province left the agencies untouched while others levied regular fines.

"Thus the fear of imprisonment was eliminated."

While the court had listed here seven or eight previous convictions against his client, he had actually been before the court 21 times in 25 years.

The first few times the fine was $50; then $75; then up to $150. Mr. Elliott said "Now it is up to $300, and the last was $400."

He said the fines were similar to a "business tax."

"I feel it should be lighter this time. There was no warning. My client was told the axe was about to drop after being lulled into a sense of false security. It is not fair to the man. He is sick, and has not an enemy in the world."

"We Canadians love to bet on horse races. No one thinks anything of it."

Said prosecutor T. P. O'Grady: "It is simply a matter of a suitable punishment in view of the record."

"I cannot accept the idea of lighter punishment," said Magistrate Ostler, "nor the idea that the fines should be taken as a sort of trades licence."

"Fines have had no effect whatever. There is no one more deserving of a jail sentence, but I am convinced this would endanger your health, if not your life."

"You will be fined $1,000 or in default three months."

'Dirty-Looking' Painting Cost $20, Nets $7,980

TORONTO (UPI)—Cameron Allard, 45, was a cool $7,980 richer yesterday after reselling a painting he bought "on a hunch."

Allard said he bought the painting, titled "The Miracle of the Loaves and Fishes," at an art auction here. It was "dirty looking," he said, but he had a "feeling" it was worth more than the $20 he paid for it.

The painting turned out to be the work of 16th century Dutch artist Jan van Scorel.

Yesterday it was bought by the Schaeffer Galleries of New York for $8,000.

CORRECT

No matter what you do it is most satisfying to know that you are correct—to receive a check mark of approval.

The Grant family enjoys that satisfaction with more and more frequency as more and more people throughout the world check Grant's Stand Fast when ordering Scotch whisky. It is a little thing to do but it gives you the big satisfaction of knowing that you are correct.

HERE'S WHAT OTHER LOW-PRICED CARS HOPE YOU'LL DO WITHOUT!

(BUT HOW THEY WISH THEY HAD 'EM)

NO WONDER MORE PEOPLE ARE BUYING CHEVROLETS
THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

Impala Sport Coupe—nothing so priceless anywhere near the price.

CHEVY'S ROOMINESS

(UNSURPASSED IN ITS FIELD . . . USE YOUR OWN YARDSTICK AND SEE)

You'll find Chevrolet seating is up to a full 5.7 inches wider than that of a major competitor. And Chevy gives you even more headroom than most of the highest priced sedans.

CHEVY'S BIGGER BRAKES

(BUILT FOR UP TO TWO-THIRDS LONGER LINING LIFE)

Chevrolet's new Safety-Master brakes are the best in their field . . . bigger, in fact, than those of many heavier, higher-priced cars. And Chevy's fade-resistant bonded linings do away with drum-scoring rivets.

CHEVY'S FULL COIL RIDE

(CHEVROLET CUSHIONS YOU WITH COIL SPRINGS AT EVERY WHEEL)

A few minutes behind the wheel will show you why Chevrolet engineers have put leaf springs out to pasture. No competitive leaf-spring suspension has a ride that coddles you like this one.

CHEVY'S FRESH STYLING

(THE ONLY UNMISTAKABLY MODERN LINES IN ITS FIELD)

You don't have to look twice at Chevy's clean-swept silhouette to know it's a new car. And, besides the satisfaction it brings, Chevy's style and Body by Fisher soundness will mean a higher allowance at trade-in time.

CHEVY'S BIGGER SAVINGS

(MORE MILES TO THE GALLON THAN ANY OTHER FULL-SIZE CAR)

A pair of Chevrolet 6's proved this emphatically—coming in first and second in their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run. And the winning mileage was a whopping 26.84 m.p.g.

CHEVY'S BETTER TRADE-IN VALUE

(CHECK WITH YOUR DEALER AND SEE)

Chevrolet's quality Fisher Body construction . . . smooth, more economical engines . . . rugged transmissions and sleek modern design hold re-sale value higher than others in its field . . . bring you more money at trade-in time.

CHEVY'S ADVANCED-DESIGN ENGINES

(AND YOU GET THE WIDEST CHOICE IN THE INDUSTRY)

Chevy gives you oil-hushed hydraulic valve lifters on all standard engines for smoother, quieter performance. It's the only Canadian car at any price with a high-performance V8 that packs more than one horsepower into every inch of displacement. And you get nine V8 engines in all to choose from, with output all the way to 335 h.p. . . and everyone of them has the convenience of automatic choke!

Make sure you get the most for your money—see your local authorized Chevrolet dealer!

Soviets Switch To Sweetness

GENEVA (UPI) — The Soviets have made a complete about-face in their tactics at the Geneva Conference.

From being tough to the point almost of Molotov-type name-calling, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko switched to sweet-reasonableness without warning or explanation.

The signal for the switch came from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Moscow who personally unleashed a new-type peace offensive in support of his drive for a summit.

The new order of the day called for optimism, hopefulness and compromise. "It firmly predicted success in Geneva."

He announced that he expected the Geneva Conference to succeed even if it takes prolonged and difficult negotiating.

At the conference table in Geneva, Gromyko that same afternoon changed his tone called for compromise, offered "concessions" and proclaimed that "useful work" had already been done here.

Synod Bars Women

OTTAWA (CP) — The Ottawa diocese synod of the Anglican Church of Canada has refused to open its doors to women delegates.

At a synod session Wednesday an amendment to a diocesan canon which would have permitted women delegates was defeated by a 46 to 24 vote of clergy and laymen.

In a heated debate, Dr. R. E. Wodehouse said the medical profession has dropped the prejudice of sex and the church should follow suit.

Layman W. E. F. Bell said the diocese of Nova Scotia has not collapsed under the admission of women delegates. One opponent, Rev. R. P. L. Playfair of Mattawa, Ont.,

Lee Marvin Likes Patriotism

Sunset Ceremony 'Hits' Tough Guy

Canadians 'Wonderful' To Take the Time

By TED HARRIS

The more patriotism and respect for the Commonwealth the better, TV tough guy Lee Marvin of M Squad said last night while viewing a traditional Victoria sunset ceremony.

"It is wonderful the way Canadians take time out for patriotism," the tall TV detective said.

Mr. Marvin, who is "detective Frank Ballinger" in M Squad, and his pretty wife Betty arrived in Victoria yesterday for a brief visit and a fishing trip today.

MAKING THEIR STAKE
"Everybody down there (the United States) is still out making their big stake in life... it doesn't seem like they have much time for nice quiet ceremonies such as tonight," he said.

A veteran actor, Mr. Marvin played major roles in numerous movies such as Raintree County and Bad Day at Black Rock before starring in M Squad, soon to start a third season.

POLICE SALUTE
"Lieut. Ballinger" even succeeded in receiving a "Good Evening, sir" from at least two city police officers directing traffic at last night's ceremony.

In his free time between making 39 half-hour TV shows a year he enjoys motorcycle racing "on a small scale" and "solo" independent sports such as fishing and hunting.

PREFERS LONE HAND
"Team sports are fine," he said, "but I sort of like to be on my own."

Visiting Victoria for the first time "and by accident at that," Mr. Marvin said it definitely won't be his last visit.

Bid Accepted

DUNCAN — Bid by General Construction Co. Ltd. of Victoria was accepted yesterday by North Cowichan council to cover 20 miles of bituminous paving.

The company's bid of $199,492 was the lowest of three received and opened at the meeting in Chemainus.

Diplomats All on Wagon

GENEVA (AP) — The foreign ministers' conference of 1959 is the most non-alcoholic party of them all.

Instead of liquor, the working sessions are running on water. The British haven't even insisted on tea.

"It's almost unbelievable," said a member of a Western delegation. "A conference without a drink is like an oasis without shade."

Servant Promotions Hit As 'Closed Shop' Deals

OTTAWA — Members of the Commons estimates committee charged Thursday that some promotion competitions in federal government departments are rigged so that promotions are restricted to a chosen few.

The committee, now investigating the civil service commission, was taken aback when commissioner Ruth Addison disclosed that 96 per cent of promotion competitions in the federal public service are conducted by and within government departments. Only four per cent were conducted by the civil service commission.

Harold Winch (CCF, Vancouver East) said the system of promotions is tantamount to a "closed shop" and asked whether the commission can stop "empire-building."

foreign aid to less-developed countries.

Perhaps too many cooks in the shape of various inter-agency economic assistance agencies are hindering most effective results through duplication, suggested Mr. Pearson. Perhaps they should be pulled together.

The $9-a-month increase in the old age pension two years ago was successful political bribery by Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Liberal Senator Thomas Reid of British Columbia said.

Labor Minister Starr disclosed that the government is considering a plan for farmers voluntarily to qualify themselves as employers so that hired hands would be eligible for unemployment insurance.

Opposition members hammered at Labor Minister Starr to set out the government's program to meet unemployment next winter.

Paul Martin (L, Essex East) said the government will have to do more than last winter's municipal works program.

CCF House Leader Hazen Argue accused Mr. Starr of showing a "callous attitude" by saying last week it would be premature to start preparing the government's program now. The minister's statement, he said, "shows the government has no plan."

Despite Western economic aid, the gap between the world's haves and have-nots seems to be widening. Liberal leader Lester Pearson says.

"The rich are getting richer faster than the poor are getting less poor," said Erhart Regier (CCF — Burnaby-Coquitlam) in debate on

CBC Hour Costs $29,000

OTTAWA (UPI) — The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation said Thursday the average cost of its hour-long television dramas is $29,000 compared to $81,000 for similar shows in the United States.

The publicly-owned corporation said Canada's population doesn't justify a high enough charge to commercial sponsors for programs to break even.

"This fact is best illustrated, probably, if we recall that it requires some 50 television stations and over 4,000 miles of microwave network connections to achieve the population coverage in Canada which, in the United States or the United Kingdom, is attained with one station in New York or London."

$4,000 Canada Council Grant To Help Island Art Centres

A $4,000 Canada Council grant to be used mainly for the development of Vancouver Island art centres has been awarded the Greater Victoria Art Gallery, curator Colin Graham announced yesterday. The grant will be used to help art groups in Island centres such as Nanaimo and Port Alberni develop their exhibitions, lecture and film programs. This is the second year of the gallery island extension program. The gallery received $3,000 from the council for the work last year. Mr. Graham said he was "particularly pleased that the council agreed to the need for an increased grant." The money will also be used to develop adult painting classes in Victoria.

School Board Gets Tough At Nanaimo

NANAIMO—School board here has adopted a "get tough" policy after losing patience with vandals responsible for destruction of school buildings and property.

Stanley Wardill proposed a reward of $25 be offered for information leading to the arrest of miscreants.

Chairman Frank Murphy recommended charges be laid against one boy who has been held responsible for deliberate window breaking.

Chemainus

Garbage Dumping 'Shocking'

DUNCAN — North Cowichan council is "shocked" that garbage is being dumped in Chemainus at the end of Seaview Street near the beach.

It decided to erect a sign warning of prosecution after Coun. Gerald Smith warned: "It is getting out of hand there all together."

"It is a disgraceful situation. People are almost dumping their garbage in the middle of Chemainus," said Coun. Donald Morton.

The municipal peace officer will be asked to keep a closer watch on the area.

Chemainus is served by a municipal garbage collection service.

Adult Polio Clinic Slated for Nanaimo

NANAIMO—An adult polio vaccination clinic will be set up in the Central Vancouver Island Health Centre in Nanaimo Monday. Persons under 50 may receive the free Salk vaccine.

Maple Bay Cleanup

RCMP to 'Lower Boom' On Speeding Boatmen

DUNCAN — RCMP are prepared to "lower the boom" on speeding power boat drivers in Maple Bay.

North Cowichan council was told yesterday a police boat stationed at Ganges will look into complaints of boats being damaged in the wash of speeding boats and of swimmers almost being run over.

Coun. Tony Staples, a resident of the bay, started an investigation into ways of stopping the speeders two weeks ago.

Clerk Andy Vande Casteyen said an RCMP officer told him the bay is in their jurisdiction and that periodic patrols will be made in the area.

$370,697 For Jobless

National Employment Service offices at four Vancouver Island communities, excluding Victoria, paid out a total of $370,697 to unemployed workers during the month of April. The Nanaimo office paid $126,047; Courtenay, $92,361; Port Alberni, $90,600, and Duncan, $61,689.

'Government House Should Do Credit to B.C.'

British Columbia's new Government House — judged the finest in Canada — is bringing a mixed reaction from Victorians who are sharply divided on whether it is beautiful and justified or ostentatious and a waste of money.

One woman, Mrs. Henry Minnings, 794 Cave, had no criticism of its $1,600,000 cost, but said "my reaction is that taxpayers should get a chance to see it. The cabinet has seen it, the press has seen it, MLAs have seen it, now the workmen who worked on it are being invited and some of them are Communists."

Mrs. R. A. Irwin, 1350 Rockland, a neighbor of Government House, said "It's really beautiful. Victoria may well be proud of the new building. I'm glad it was rebuilt."

Norman Wright, 950 Jasmine, agreed, saying "It's the proper sort of thing we should have. The old building was disgraceful. B.C. is a prosperous province and we should have a Government House to do us credit."

C. R. Muttibury, 4241 Binkinsop Road, said: "I don't believe in ostentation. I wonder if the money couldn't have been better spent. They could have had a nice place for royalty at Ottawa."

Mrs. Roena Anne Hadleigh, 3965 Holland, said of the total cost: "Every house costs too much today. I don't think that in comparison with others the cost of the Government House is too much out of the way." D. A. Kirkland, 1403 Fairfield, summed it up by saying: "Why shouldn't British Columbia have the best?"

Disagreement was strongly voiced by Mrs. H. J. Medland, 3172 Douglas.

"It's too expensive," she said. "Too much money has been spent on Government House and not enough on old-age pensioners. I think some of the money should have been used for accommodation for the pensioners." Mrs. G. C. Owen, 2326 Quadra, was also dubious.

"A lot of that money," she said, "could have gone into far better projects. I don't think we need that type of Government House."

Mrs. Bruce Smith, 840 Bay, said: "It is nice, but $1,600,000 is a lot of money."

Mrs. M. E. Parsons, 500 Gorge West, agreed the price was high, "but what isn't, these days."

Mrs. H. D. Pennell, 1162 Fairfield Road, said: "It's provided work for people. All the different firms in the city have cashed in on the project. In that way, I don't think it's been too expensive."

Forrest Ray, 1170 Fort Street, said: "It looks very nice. After all, a building for people like that needs to have a lot of money spent on it."

Newest Warship On View Today

Landlubbers may be able to get a good look at Canada's newest fighting ship in action off Clover Point today between 1.30 and 2.30 when the still-uncommissioned destroyer escort Terra Nova is put through her paces in speed trials, firing her guns and other weapons with aircraft flying overhead, and laying down a smoke screen.

Strike Still Looms

Arbiter Enters City Deadlock

Spokesmen for the feuding city council and the council's 250-member outside staff will meet Monday with a provincial government mediator in another attempt to settle the wage dispute.

But a spokesman for the union last night refused to guarantee that no strike action will be taken until after the Monday meeting. The union members have voted 95 per cent in favor of strike action. Feelings between the two parties were running high last night with both the union and Mayor Percy Scourrah issuing conflicting statements.

POSSIBLE WOES

A strike by the union members would:

- Disrupt garbage collection;
- Halt water, sewer and storm drain connections, hindering new construction;
- Halt road repairs;
- Leave untended burst water mains and sewer stoppages;
- Halt street sweeping and parks work;
- Close down the Johnson Street bridge.

FRINGE EXTRAS

Mayor Scourrah said the city has offered its outside staff a 15-cent boost on the average of $1.60 an hour. He added that taxpayers pay, on top of the hourly rate, fringe benefits worth an additional 31 cents an hour.

"The fringe benefits consist of holidays, sick leave, MSA, service pay, group insurance, superannuation, additional annual holidays, an additional 25 per cent of wages for compensation cases, and retirement or death benefits," he said.

"During the negotiations the city has made several offers to the men, but they have not seen fit to make any concessions whatsoever."

'Crazy' Court Popular

Victoria's new courthouse design has been termed as "cool, man" and "crazy, man," which in the vernacular of the jazz set means "just about perfect."

That was some of the reaction the provincial public works department got when it invited comment at the Jaycee Fair where a model of the proposed courthouse was on display.

"About 70 per cent of the comments favored the proposed design," Works Minister W. N. Chant said. Here are some of the other comments: "Excellent," "About time," "outdated in style," "could be more modern," "very good design," "intriguing," "too modern," "badly needed," "too bleak," "too severe."

One person suggested that Christ Church Cathedral towers should be flood-lit, which may have been a good suggestion although it has little to do with the courthouse.

'Injured Party' Takes No Action

Challenge to Bill 43 Likely to Fizzle Out

Girls Starry-Eyed

Stand-In Finds Adulation Rather Boring

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Beautiful women flocked about me at the Pat Bay airport terminal building yesterday afternoon, hanging on my every word.

To escape all that adulation I walked outside, into the sunlight. Some of the girls followed, the rest peeked through the glass-panelled doors and others gravitated towards me.

And most of them had pen and paper in their hands, obviously waiting for an autograph.

HUDSON'S THE NAME

"This all gets rather boring after a time," I remarked to the chap I was chatting with, someone called Hudson whom I'd met at the TCA ticket counter.

Rock Hudson, I think he said his name was. Apparently had something to do with movies.

Said he came to Sidney by launch from Los Angeles, on a holiday-fishing trip, and was on his way to Vancouver to see the town before flying back to Hollywood.

Seems he spent the day in Victoria, looking about Government Street as most tourists do, had lunch at the Poodle Dog Cafe and bought a loaf of Russian rye bread to take back.

MEAN TRICK

Quite a pleasant person to talk to, really, but I'm afraid I played a rather mean trick on him and all those girls.

I quickly said good-bye and slipped through the crowd of beautiful women and drove off, leaving him surrounded and alone.

Come to think of it, I don't think anyone missed me.

MacMillan and Bloedel Gift

Province to Accept Sproat Lake Park

The provincial recreation department will today accept 43-acre Smith's Landing Park on Sproat Lake as a gift from MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. to be developed as a provincial campsite.

Recreation Minister Earle Westwood will accept the deed to the park from M & B president Ralph Shaw at a ceremony in Port Alberni this afternoon.

Smith's Landing, with its three-quarter-mile of lake-shore, has been one of Vancouver Island's most popular camping sites for several years and site of the annual Sproat Lake speedboat regatta.

Alberni district residents have made full use of the spacious picnic grounds.

Recreation department officials said the park will be maintained this summer and development will start next winter, possibly first as a day-use park and later as a provincial camping park.

Picketing Will Continue

Victoria labor's so-called "test case" against British Columbia's controversial new Bill 43 seemed doomed to fizzle out yesterday unless a city contractor seeks redress as an injured party.

Backed by the B.C. Federation of Labor, Victoria Building Trades Council Thursday picketed a non-union construction project at Craigflower and Admirals Road and challenged the government to take punitive action under the new labor legislation.

The bill prohibits picketing of non-union shops. Attorney-General Robert Bonner told the Colonist last night: "It is quite impossible to challenge the government by these manoeuvres."

He pointed out that the act makes provision by which the injured party may seek redress.

DIDN'T HAMPER

But the "injured party," John Henson, Jr., 520 West Burnside, said the picketing didn't hamper his operations.

He charged the unions with having failed to ask him to sign any agreement but said he was paying his men union wages anyway. His basic wage for carpenters, he said, was $2.65 an hour. Some of his men get more.

He said he had not considered taking action against the picketing group "because I have been too busy."

Union officials said it is not true that the contractor has never been asked to sign a union agreement.

"We have approached him before—we have asked him many times in the past," said Donald Bushell, secretary of the Victoria Building Trades Council.

James A. Moffat, business agent for Local 1598, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, agreed.

"We asked him last March," said Mr. Moffat.

"We had a little conversation at the site where the picketing is going on and I asked him if he would sign an agreement and he said no."

The business agent said the contractor's employees had been asked to join the union and they also declined.

$2.72 AN HOUR

He said basic wage at union operations is $2.72 an hour.

Picketing at the site will continue, Mr. Moffat said, until it is either halted by the processes of law or the project is completed.

The contractor said the buildings which the labor organization is picketing—an apartment block and a service station—are his own.

He said he was an active contractor in Victoria until about three years ago but is not one today. He is not soliciting any construction business.

Rakes, Shovels Win Membership

Shovels, rakes, shears, sticks with nails in the end to pick up paper scraps and sacks will take the place of membership cards when Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary Association meets on Saturday.

The meeting at the sanctuary will take the form of a work bee at the sanctuary. More ambitious members will assemble at the lake concession at 10 a.m., others at the Monterey parking lot at 1.30 p.m. for the trip out to the lake.

They'll Soon Need a Home

Getting ready for SPCA Open House May 30 at Wilson Street shelter are these four shorthair pointer-Labrador pups, being fed by clerk Mrs. Alma Ladd. Now 12 days old, pups will be available for adoption when six weeks old. Society also has 12 other pups, from eight to 12 weeks old for adoption. Some of them will be on view at Open House, when there'll be white elephant stall, raffles, tea and dog obedience trials.—(Colonist photo.)

Doctor-Director Lashes Out

B.C. Stall on Patient Care Adds to Hospital Crowding

Victoria's shortage of hospital accommodation could be relieved to the extent of 100 beds if the government would stop "procrastinating" on the long-term patient care program which it announced in 1956.

The charge of procrastination was laid against the provincial health department by Dr. E. N. Boettcher, a director of Gorge Road Hospital and medical superintendent of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Gorge Road Hospital officials said yesterday that Health Minister Eric Martin "has made no effort to contact us" since he told the legislature more than two months ago that an early meeting was planned with the institution's board of management.

The hospital, designed for the care of chronic and convalescent patients, receives no government grants of any sort and its patients cannot qualify for BCHIS coverage.

This means that patients in the city's two general hospitals, St. Joseph's and Royal Jubilee, do everything possible to remain on the active treatment list so that they can stay out of Gorge Road where they would have to pay a minimum of about $180 a month.

Dr. Boettcher said that failure of BCHIS to cover patients in the convalescent category creates a "financial barrier" which negates one of the very purposes for which the Gorge Road institution was built at a cost of nearly $500,000.

He said there is "no clear black line between the active care patient and the convalescent. There is an area of gray."

In what he terms the "gray" area are patients who could be treated in a convalescent hospital but who can still technically remain on the active treatment list in a general hospital, thus continuing under BCHIS coverage rather than facing the prospect of paying for their care at Gorge Road.

Since the government announced in 1956 that it was creating a program which would cover convalescent patients, Gorge Road Hospital has equipped itself to handle this type of care.

But the financial barrier has kept the patients away and the hospital has dealt largely with chronic patients.

The convalescents are still filling vitally-needed beds in the general hospitals instead of taking advantage of facilities for about 50 such patients now available at the 104-bed Gorge Road institution.

Gorge Road would expand its facilities to handle another 50 convalescent patients if their coverage by BCHIS was implemented by the government.

Oak Bay Liquor Store Announcement Soon

Attorney-General Robert Bonner yesterday said he expects the Liquor Control Board will shortly be in a position to announce location of a new liquor store in the Greater Victoria-Oak Bay district. It is understood the new store will be adjacent to the Safeway Store development at Foul Bay Avenue and Fort Street.

Mr. Bonner said his department is still interested in locating a liquor store to serve the Langford-Colwood-Metchosin-Belmont Park areas.

Junior League 'Nicest People We've Ever Had'

"The members of the Junior League are without a doubt the nicest people we've ever had in the hotel," said Mr. Jimmy James, who operates the valet service for the Empress Hotel. "I hope we see them here again."

This was high praise from Mr. James, who has worked in the hotel for 15 years. "We've had bigger conventions, but this is the busiest convention I can remember in seven years."

"Those girls are a treat to work for," Mr. James should know, for it was he who personally pressed 460 formal gowns for the Junior League's reception and dinner Monday night.

Mr. James started pressing gowns for the delegates who are here from all over Canada, the U.S. and Mexico on Sunday morning. He pressed all-day Sunday and he pressed a-l-l Sunday night. He kept right on pressing through Monday until about 5 p.m. "They were the most beautiful gowns I have ever seen," said the weary but enthusiastic valet. "The racks looked so beautiful—loaded with magnificent dresses."

One Spectator Enthralled

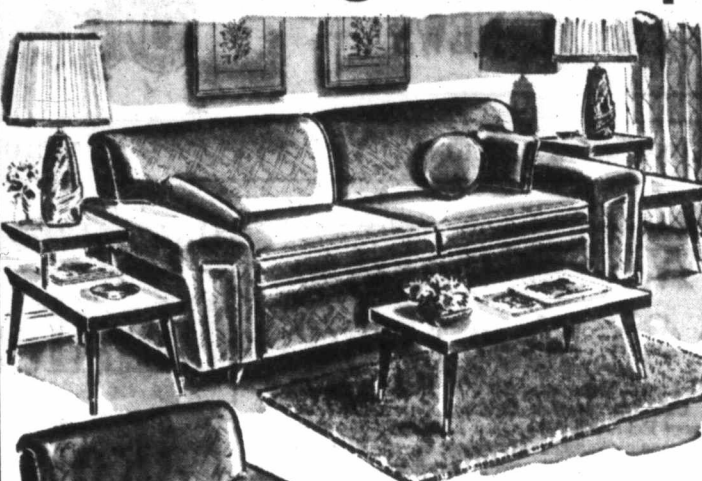

Dispensing a Viennese delicacy known as "sacher torte" in Wednesday evening's presentation of "Die Fledermaus" at the Royal Theatre, Mr. John McNair had at least one member of the audience enthralled.

She was his mother, Mrs. Alexander McNair, who flew from Glasgow, Scotland, on Monday partly to see her son in his part as a waiter in the performance.

It's the first time in 13 years Mrs. McNair has seen her two sons, Andrew and John, and her grandsons and great-grandchild, and her first trip beyond Scotland's border.

The trip was a Mother's Day gift to their 70-year-old mother who so far is enjoying Victoria very much.

Junior Leaguers who have been in session here at the Empress Hotel all week, relaxed their schedule yesterday for social activities.

Four hundred and sixty attended a reception given by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. F. M. Ross at the new, beautiful Government House at 5:30 p.m.

Earlier in the day, they were taken on a sightseeing tour to Butchart Gardens and Beacon Hill Park area. In the afternoon they were entertained at tea by former Vancouver Junior Leaguers Mrs. Trevor Housser, Beach Drive, and Mrs. Thomas Fee, Runnymede Drive.

At 7:15 in the evening the delegates attended a nominees dinner in the Crystal Ballroom of the Empress Hotel, where the heads of nine leagues were specially honored. Mrs. Paul J. Phelan of Toronto, second vice-president, read citations.

In addition, the Junior Leagues of America as a whole received a merit award for community service from the editors of Mayfair magazine.

At 8:40 leaguers attended sunset ceremonies on the lawn of the legislative buildings, performed by the 5th B.C. Independent Medium Battery, RCA.

Majority of the delegates will leave the city today on the afternoon boat, but members of the board and staff members will remain in Victoria until Tuesday or Wednesday next week to carry on post-conference board meetings.

Think Pieces Not Popular

Stuart Keate, publisher of the Victoria Times, said yesterday it is becoming increasingly difficult for newspapers to fulfill the obligation to educate their readers.

Mr. Keate criticized what he called "the growing demand for shadow instead of substance" in all areas of mass communication. He said "while most responsible newspapers do try to educate as well as inform their readers, the problem now is to get people to read the so-called think pieces which we faithfully reproduce."

'Sporting' a Gamble

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Many years ago I had a big bed of clear yellow tulips of which I was inordinately proud. Then one spring, when the blossoms opened, each yellow petal was attractively streaked and splashed with scarlet.

I didn't quite know what to make of this change and, on consulting an old-time professional gardener, I was horrified when he told me this was a sure sign of disease, and my tulips would surely die! He advised me to pull up and burn all affected specimens before the trouble spread to others.

Fortunately, I turned chicken at this point and didn't have the heart to follow his advice. Those bulbs are still growing and healthy and, for my money, even more attractive than the clear yellow kind.

This is called "breaking," when the flower petals become streaked and splashed with another color and it is known now that it is caused by certain obscure virus infections. Another virus causes "parrotting," in which the petal edges become deeply incised and fringed.

These viruses are perfectly harmless and have no effect at all on the health or longevity of the bulb. The virus is not transmitted by seed and new tulips raised from seed are usually free from these streaks and splashes and fringed petals.

To acquire the fringed petals of the Parrot tulip or the attractive streaking of the "broken" varieties, the gardener must either wait until his self-colored flowers become naturally infected or he must deliberately infect his bulbs by grafting a piece of an infected bulb onto a sound bulb.

"Sporting" is something else again, in which a tulip or any other plant may suddenly change its color or habit of growth without benefit of virus infection. This is believed to be due to mutations or changes in the genes and is not too well understood. It is known that atomic or X-ray radiation can induce sporting but there isn't anything the home gardener can do to prevent a tulip from sporting or to cause one to sport and produce a new kind.

It seems to be governed entirely by chance and all you can do is to keep your fingers crossed and hope that, if one of your tulips should suddenly produce a sport, the new variety may be so attractive as to make you a potful of money.

Sporting seems to run in families. For instance, Dame Clara Butt produced a sport which was christened Fantasy, and Fantasy in turn had a bright red offspring called Firebird. The well-known Inglescombe Yellow has sported two varieties—Firebird, yellow flamed with bright red, and Princess Margaret Rose, yellow edged with orange.

Nearly all the early double tulips are sports from Murillo, some of the best being Marechal Neil, yellow and orange; M. Van der Hoef, bright yellow; Orange Nassau, orange-scarlet; Peach Blossom, deep pink flushed with white, and Schnoonoord, a pure white double.

TV in Review

By William Ewald

A Little Bit of Everybody

Dave King, a refugee from British TV, enrolled for a summer series this week on NBC-TV. King's half hour was an astonishing example of the influence of American show business.

King, a graduate of the English music halls, bounced on stage and almost immediately assumed the posture of the Bing Crosby-Perry Como-Dean Martin-I-haven't-had-my-Geritol-today type singer: casual, vaguely drawly, left hand hung stiffly at his side as if it were in a swinging split, occasionally snapping a finger with elaborate laziness.

Then, a transformation and into a show stand-up routine of one liners a la Milton Berle or Bob Hope. One of his lines—an inside on Manhattan's impossible traffic—was almost pure Hope: "You know, I was driving down Fifth Avenue today and I got three tickets for parking."

Then, another transformation and into a sort of Sid Caesar pantomime routine which had to do with a policeman directing traffic. And incidentally, a very funny bit, too.

This was followed later in the show by another skit set in a subway that was again vaguely tinged with the Sid Caesar touch or perhaps, George Gobel: The little man, trapped, pushed, adrift in a distorted world with which he can't cope.

From all this, you may assume that King has no identity of his own, but strangely enough, it's not true.

For one thing, he has assimilated all these styles, bunched them into a cozy package that sits quite comfortably on him.

For another, King brings a rather curious addition to the package—sex. I don't mean that King is a terribly attractive man or that he pants around the cameras like the continental. What he does pack, however, is a very frank aggressiveness, a sort of European insinuation that goes beyond the leering of American comics.

I'm not quite sure how this will sit with North American audiences, but in many ways, I find it infinitely preferable to the little-boy-with-a-semi-bawdy approach of many American TV comedians.

It is a kind of free-wheeling admission that: "I'm a man and you're a girl-dish and we may get a fair measure of fun out of facing the facts—which are funny enough in themselves—and not acting as if we're a group of naughty teenagers playing a sneak game of spin-the-bottle."

I have a hunch that this aspect of King's playing may be toned down in future weeks—it may be too direct for our TV. It is bawdy, rather than vulgar. And vulgarity seems to be the only acceptable comic approach to sex on our TV.

Hollywood Today

By Sheila Graham

Crosbys Busy Adding to Clan

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Bing Crosby wired son Phil after the birth of young Crosby's daughter: "I hope it's a trend." Bing's own baby has an October date line... Phil explained to me why his daughter was named Dixie Lee. "We always said that the first girl any of us had would be named for our mother."

Gary Crosby, ringside at the Tropicana show where two of his brothers found the gals they married, reportedly murmured, "Okay, which one do I marry?"... and, while we're still with the Crosbys, Lindsay, youngest of Bing's four sons, will star for Jerry Wald next year in "The Hound Dog Man."

John Wayne is negotiating with Frank Sinatra to play Captain Travis in "The Alamo."

Anita Ekberg's ex, Anthony Steel, has been dating charmin' Sharran Douglas, who prefers to work in Hollywood as a press agent than live with her wealthy ex-ambassador father, Lewis Douglas, and mother on their Arizona ranch.

Two items about Errol Flynn: He has finished a film in Cuba with some scenes including Fidel Castro. And his autobiography is finally completed. As yet untitled, the tome contains a million words.

Diana Dors announced in England that she had retired as a movie actress—then was amazed when everyone believed it. But one thing she says she meant: no more brassy blonde roles. Diana has joined the business tycoons with her own special shampoo—for blondes, of course.

Frederic March, always a great actor and so good in Columbia's "Middle of the Night," is in London to make the narration for a Charles Dickens television anthology.

Billy Bartok, famed circus midget, told me on our mutual Art Linkletter house party show, that he has written his memoirs. Billy, three feet, ten and a half inches tall, is calling his book, "Always Looking Up."

The bidding:

North: 1♥

East: Pass

South: 2♥

West: Pass

Opening lead: ♠2

South had no reason to force on the first round, and his one spade response was very much in order. When Leaping Louise, in the North seat, heard Willy Willie's second-round jump, she lived up to her name and placed the final contract in the stratosphere of a slam.

West's lead of a singleton trump is generally most inadvisable, but did not affect the final result. Willie tranced for a second or so; then, having decided upon a course of action, he played rapidly.

The spade ace was won on the board, followed by a low club to South's king. Declarer then led the diamond deuce, finessed dummy's queen, and stuffed a heart on the diamond ace. A low diamond was ruffed, the club ace cashed, and a club ruffed with dummy's spade nine. Another diamond was led, and East helplessly discarded a heart. South ruffed low, and led a heart to the ace. Now a heart was ruffed with declarer's last low trump, and the spade king and queen won the eleventh and twelfth tricks.

With a less gifted partner, Leaping Louise would have paid the customary penalty for her springboard tactics. Willy Willie had combined the luck of finding the diamond king inside with skilful timing to make L.L.'s enterprising bidding look like nothing more than a vote of confidence.

Released by The Associated Newspapers —to make into stars, he hopes. With the number of stars being limited and in such hot demand, we could use some good newcomers, and more producers who will take a chance on them.

Ezra Goodman, who used to represent Time Magazine in Hollywood, has written a book about the film city that, I'm told, pulls no punches. What, another punch in the puss for poor old Hollywood?

Something I didn't know until I lunched with Gina Lollobrigida: she raises dahlias. "I have more than 200 types and colors," the luscious horticulturalist informed me on the set of her "Never So Few" movie at Metro. Another hobby of Gina's is photography—she has six cameras and most of the photos she has snapped are of her son Milko.

Natalie Wood will be sweet 16 again when she stars for Elia Kazan in "Splendor in the Grass." This will be one of her independent pictures—Nat's new contract permits one movie a year away from Warners. It follows her co-starring film with Sir Laurence Olivier, "The Entertainer," in London this August. Natalie told me on the set of her current "Cash McCall" with James Garner at Warners.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: Mama passed away last week at 89. She was spry until three years ago when she had a bad fall. After that she became an invalid and had to be cared for like a baby.

In 1956 when she had her accident, the five of us decided on a co-operative plan. Martha, the only unmarried one, offered to take a leave of absence from her school teaching and care for Mama. We agreed to make up her salary.

Now that Mama is gone Martha has several months of leisure as she can't return to teaching until September. We think she should find work in a store or office and not sit around and collect money from us, when Mama is in her grave.

Last night Martha said she was "very tired" and needed a rest. She's considering a trip to Europe on our money. A word from you on this slick manoeuvring will be greatly appreciated.—THE FAMILY.

Dear Family: If Martha were a "slick manoeuvring" she could have manoeuvred something slicker than caring for an invalid night and day for three years. Do you have the slightest notion what it means to feed, bathe and watch over an aged person?

In my book Martha is entitled to "sit around and collect the money" until school reopens. And if she wants to go to Europe the rest of you ought to chip in and buy her a new set of luggage as a going-away present.

Mixed Up

Dear Ann: I'm 15 and mixed up—but good. Last night I went out with a darling guy. I'd been hoping for six months he'd ask me. We doubled with his buddy who has a car. I never liked this buddy or his steady girl. They were mushing it up in the front seat and it made me uneasy.

I don't know if the front seat performance gave my date ideas or what. Anyway he went into a long story about how he never takes out a girl a second time if he doesn't get proof she likes him. I asked what he considered "proof." He said "A few honest kisses." I told him I didn't believe in kissing on a first date, no matter what.

He got mad and told his buddy to drive me straight home. Then he called me "Queen of the Flat Tires." My closest girl friend says I made a mistake. She claims a friendly kiss wouldn't have killed me and now I've lost him forever. I have mixed feelings. Maybe I was too prissy. Help me, please.—FLAT TIRE QUEEN.

High standards are a good device for screening out the third-raters. A girl who can say no and make it stick.

builds character and trains herself for the major battles that lie ahead.

If this bird never calls again you aren't missing much. And his label, "Queen of the Flat Tires," is a compliment. It means you are out of his reach—and out of his class.

Love Affairs

Dear Ann: My husband is forever telling me about the love affairs he had before he met me. Every time he relates a story he adds something and it gets better. I don't care what he did; in fact, I'm bored to death with his yarns. I'm beginning to think he's making up most of it.

Shall I tell him once and for all to stop boring me or let him go on and on? You'd think he'd be ashamed, but instead he seems proud. Why is he like this?—POOR LISTENER.

He's "like that" because he wants you to think he's a great lover and he's afraid his home performance isn't cutting the mustard. A little praise and ego massage from you will cut down on the boring oratory.

Sounds Fine

Confidentially to TOODIE: This man you think could be a "model husband" sounds fine if you plan to enter him in a beauty contest. But he doesn't sound like a working model. Keep your job.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experience of thousands of teenagers if you read Ann Landers' new booklet, "How to Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

PREPARE FOR FUTURE BEAUTY—Now is the time to tune up the over-all complexion—if you wish to be prepared for summer fashions. They will be revealing, to put it mildly. The bathing suits coming along are the briefest ever. Dresses have scooped out necklines, fore and aft, and little or no sleeve.

Naturally, a basic need for wearing these show-offs is petal skin. Two treatments can provide it, both are homemade:

1. A "beauty cream" to soften and whiten knuckles, elbows and heels. To concoct it, cut a small bar of facial soap into slivers, place in a bowl and cover with hot water. When dissolved, add a teaspoon of salad oil, whip to a froth and decant into a capped jar. Massage in daily before bathing.
2. A "satinizer" for ridding the back and chest of blackheads or scuff. You make it so: mix equal parts of cornmeal and mild soap flakes; moisten with water to a paste. Apply with a soft brush once weekly, during a bath. (Caution: do not use when skin is blemished.)

Properly applied, both treatments work like magic, and cost only pennies.

India Pale Ale

is here!

This is the Ale that people have been asking Labatt's for ever since we commenced brewing in British Columbia.

This is the Ale that so many of our friends from Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes (and service men who visited these provinces) remember as the ale that really tastes like an ale.

This is the Ale whose unique strength and flavour have brought it world wide recognition as a truly distinctive product of Canada's brewing industry.

This is the Ale that has won more international awards for quality than any other Canadian malt beverage.

This is the Ale that is a part of the history of the Empire itself. In the 18th century the Imperial Army requested the master brewers of England to compete in brewing a special type of ale to be shipped to the Indian garrisons. The ale was to have sufficient strength, flavour and body to stand the long sea voyage to India in wooden casks without deterioration of quality. The brew selected became known throughout the world as INDIA PALE ALE—the direct ancestor of Labatt's famous IPA—full bodied—full strength—full flavoured—the Man's Ale in every sense of the word! Only Labatt's make it.

'Lieut. Ballinger' Likes Sunset Ceremony

Tough "Chicago detective" of TV's M Squad, Lee Marvin traded his snub-nosed .38 revolver for a brief run-down on the 5th (B.C.) Independent Medium Battery nine-pound cannon

Today's Morals 'From Gutter'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Philosopher Dr. Barnett Savary says youngsters today tend to learn their morals from the gutter. The University of British Columbia professor told a parents' institute that many parents are leaving their children to learn their values from neighborhood gangs and television.

The present social system "is based on a fabric of lies" and these dishonesties affect the lives of our children," he said.

"The home has ceased to be a home. It now is a place to eat, sleep, hang a hat, and of course, watch television. Parents haven't time to be with their children."

CASTRO'S MEN FIGHT FRANCO

Bulletins

WASHINGTON — The house appropriations committee voted funds to set up a high-powered "brains trust" to mastermind global warfare against communism on the economic and political fronts.

BONN, Germany — The Federal Attorney's office announced the arrest of 20 persons in a sweeping investigation of a Communist East German spy ring in West Germany. More arrests are expected.

VANCOUVER — Vancouver's ocean beaches, closed since last August because of pollution, may be re-opened this summer, two years earlier than expected.

VANCOUVER — The United Church of Canada plans to build 600 new churches in this country in the next five years, the church's associate secretary said Thursday.

GENEVA — The regular East-West nuclear negotiators meet today in another attempt to get the stalled nuclear test ban talks moving.

Seeking, Sought?

Admittedly looking for a new governor-general, Australian Prime Minister Robert Menzies declined to say in Ottawa yesterday whether he was considering a Canadian for the job and jokingly replied he "wouldn't be frightened" by a possibility he might be asked to be Canada's next governor-general.

Strongholds Established In Two Areas

HAVANA (NANA) — Armed rebels have been fighting the Franco regime in Spain for more than a month in a revolution directed by veterans of Fidel Castro's July 26th movement, according to a highly informed source here.

The revolution, according to Gen. Alberto Bayo, technical adviser to the armed forces of Cuba, began "on schedule" on April 14. He disclosed details and tactics of the revolution, known as the "14th of April movement," in an interview.

EL GRAN BAYO

The general, known as "El Gran Bayo" to revolutionary forces in Latin America and in Spain, where he led loyalist forces during the Spanish civil war of the 1930s, said that he was elected leader of the April 14 movement several months ago at a convention of Latin American revolutionaries in Caracas, Venezuela. Cuban and Venezuelan leaders have been the most vigorous opponents of Latin dictatorships in recent months.

TRAINED CASTRO

General Bayo is the man who trained Fidel Castro and his original followers in guerrilla tactics in Mexico three years ago. He is credited with the master plan for the overthrow of the regime of Fulgencio Batista.

The Spanish revolution which allegedly began on April 14 is confirmed by other sources here. The Cubans claim:

1.—A train was derailed, on the evening of April 14, at the entrance to a tunnel near Puerto de Pajares. The derailling allegedly was done by a band of guerrillas led by Antonio Rodriguez, who is a Cuban and a veteran of the Spanish civil war.

REBELS ENGAGED

2.—Government troops in Catalonia and Andalusia are engaging the rebels.

3.—Fighting is particularly heavy in the region between Laviana, Mieres and La Felguera, where miners have fled to the hills carrying with them supplies of dynamite.

4.—That rebel strongholds have been established in Asturias and Barcelona;

PLANE CRASH

5.—Two weeks ago a plane crashed near Madrid, killing all 28 passengers. The Cubans claim the crash was caused by an act of sabotage by the rebels.

Juan Pablo de Lajondio, Spanish ambassador to Cuba, has protested to the Cuban minister of state regarding these claims, particularly regarding the plane crash two weeks ago. The ambassador conceded that a plane did crash but objected to the claim that rebel sabotage was involved.

LIKE BATISTA

General Bayo pointed out that Batista also denied every claim of rebel success during his regime. By the time the rebel claims in Cuba had been verified, he said, the revolution had been won.

"Franco is keeping the truth from the world, just like Batista did," he said. "But our intelligence is very accurate, although it takes several weeks, sometimes, for reports to reach us."

NO FALSE CLAIMS

General Bayo insists that he is not sensationalizing:

"We would be very stupid indeed to make false claims. The people who live in these (Spanish) regions would know that we were lying, the word would spread, and if our words proved false the revolution would be lost before it had begun."

Island Tug, Battleship

Historic Tow Starts Monday

Nautical history will be written Monday when the Victoria tug Cambrian Salvor leaves Concepcion, Chile, on a 10,000-mile haul to Japan with a fully-armed 30,000-ton battleship in tow.

The epic voyage combines one of the longest tows in history with one of the largest ships ever strung on the end of a deep-sea towline.

FIVE KNOTS

Donald Elworthy, an official of Island Tug and Barge Ltd., owners of the Cambrian Salvor, said yesterday the company hopes the salvage vessel and its tow will average five knots over the cross-Pacific route.

The Chilean battleship Almirante Latorre will carry her 10 14-inch guns, 14 six-inch guns and smaller armament as well as her huge engines.

During the First World War the vessel bore the illustrious name HMS Canada and was one of the most powerful capital ships on the high seas. Laid down at Vickers yard in Newcastle, England, in 1911, the battleship was under construction for the Chilean government at the outbreak of war and was taken over by the Royal Navy.

She was refitted in England after hostilities ceased and finally found her way into the navy which had first ordered her.

CREW OF 27

On her way to a Japanese breaking yard she will be handled by a crew of 27 on the Cambrian Salvor and five in her own quarters. The tug is commanded by a Dutchman, Capt. James Van Comodo.

Cambrian Salvor is a sister ship of the famed Sudbury II, also operated by Island Tug and Barge, and is one of the most powerful afloat.

Berlin Post 'Very Iffy' Says Pearson

OTTAWA (UPI) — Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson was noncommittal yesterday on a report he was being considered as top man for a United Nations' authority in Berlin. "It's a very 'iffy' suggestion," he said.

The creation of such a post would be dependent upon a summit conference.

Galveston Hit By Hurricane

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—A storm of hurricane fierceness struck this island city about dawn Thursday. It grounded a tanker, sank a fishing boat and blew railroad cars from their tracks.

East of Galveston residents reported two tornado funnels which caused destruction.

Jailed Again

U.S. Communist Party leader Robert Thompson surrendered yesterday to serve an 18-month prison term for contempt of court. He was sentenced for hiding out after receiving a three-year term for criminal conspiracy, a term he recently completed.

200,000 Safe Hours Win Bronze Plaques

CHEMAINUS—Two employees of MacMillan and Bloedel who have worked more than 200,000 accident-free hours have won bronze plaques from the British Columbia Safety Council. Ewart Rice and James Buckner, Jr., received the awards this week.

Port Alberni

Five Ships Wait As Dockers Idle

PORT ALBERNI—Five ships are waiting to be loaded here while 170 longshoremen are idled by what the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union calls a Shipping Federation lockout.

The longshoremen have been called back to work this morning by the union dispatcher, but a union spokesman said it is doubtful the men will return to work unless suspension has been lifted on two gangs, which were suspended because of a dispute over travelling time between two ships in the harbor.

Shipping officials say trouble started Wednesday when two gangs were taken off one ship to go to work on another. The second vessel was apparently not ready for loading and members of the two gangs consequently lost half an hour of work.

Yesterday union members paraded with placards reading: "ILWU Local 503 Locked Out."

Crofton

Cowichan To Help Firemen

DUNCAN—Crofton volunteer fire department will receive financial "help" from North Cowichan council, it was decided yesterday.

Decision came after Coun. Tony Staples said the department needs the money for "efficiency and morale."

Finance chairman Stanley Dyke was asked to see where the money is to come from and report to the council at the next meeting.

Coun. Staples said department members feel they need a set of compressed air tanks worth $600 and 20 lengths of hose.

"We're all sympathetic, but we can't change the budget," said Reeve C. A. P. Murison. "Next year we could increase the mill rate so they would receive $600 more."

Coun. Staples went "further" and received council backing that some money be given to the department.

The department, one of four in the municipality, receives an annual grant from the municipality but is required to raise any extra money it needs.

PPCLI Group Army Men To Gather At Duncan

DUNCAN—Annual spring get-together of the Princess Patricia's Regimental Association of Victoria will be held here May 30.

Canadian Scottish commanding officer Maj. Jack Gallagher has made the armories more available for the meeting, to start at 7:30 p.m.

Decision was made to hold the meeting here because it was felt to be a central location for members living outside the metropolitan Victoria area.

Lt.-Col. James Allan, commanding officer First Battalion, PPCLI, at Work Point, has given the meeting his "blessings" and hopes to be present, accompanied by Maj. R. E. Bruce, RSM Austin, Lt.-Col. J. M. Edgar (Ret.), Brig. Gen. Carvoso (Ret.) and Maj. P. Crofton, association president.

Transportation can be made available by calling Duncan 1057-R.

DUNCAN—School District 65 (Cowichan) trustees are seeking legal advice to curb students from "galavanting" around in their cars during the school day.

A proposed letter, if legally correct, is to be sent to parents of pupils taking cars to Cowichan High School stating that the automobiles cannot be used once they are at the school, unless the pupils are going home for lunch.

The letter was signed by Cowichan High School principal R. M. Lendrum, who also suggested a slip accompany the letter that would show the parents had received it.

Students may use their cars to get to school, but must not go off the property during school hours and must not give rides to other students, the principal's letter states.

Trustees considered holding the letter until September until trustee Mrs. V. W. Tarlton said: "I think we should send it now. This is the time of year when students want to galavant."

Board chairman John Homer and secretary G. F. Dyson are to show the letter to their solicitor and send copies out if the solicitor gives his approval.

Funeral Rite Tomorrow For Duncan Organist

DUNCAN—Mrs. Evelyn Nora Henslowe, 89, a life member of the Somenos Women's Auxiliary and a well-known organist here for 23 years, died here Wednesday.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 3 p.m. in St. Mary's Church, followed by burial in the family plot in the churchyard.

She came here in 1910 and had lived at Treborough farm, Somenos, for the last 49 years. She was born in England.

Mrs. Henslowe was organist at St. Mary's Anglican Church where she also taught Sunday school and was head of the Little Helpers group.

Surviving are three sons, Cecil in California, and Laurence and Ronald at Duncan.

'Government House Should Do Credit to B.C.'

British Columbia's new Government House — judged the finest in Canada — is bringing a mixed reaction from Victorians who are sharply divided on whether it is beautiful and justified or ostentatious and a waste of money.

One woman, Mrs. Henry Minnings, 794 Cave, had no criticism of its $1,600,000 cost, but said "my reaction is that taxpayers should get a chance to see it. The cabinet has seen it, the press has seen it, MLAs have seen it, now the workmen who worked on it are being invited and some of them are Communists."

Mrs. R. A. Irwin, 1350 Rockland, a neighbor of Government House, said "It's really beautiful. Victoria may well be proud of the new building. I'm glad it was rebuilt."

Norman Wright, 950 Jasmine, agreed, saying "It's the proper sort of thing we should have. The old building was disgraceful. B.C. is a prosperous province and we should have a Government House to do us credit."

C. R. Mottlebary, 4241 Blenkinsop Road, said: "I don't believe in ostentation. I wonder if the money couldn't have been better spent. They could have had a nice place for royalty at Ottawa."

Mrs. Roena Anne Hadleigh, 3965 Holland, said of the total cost: "Every house costs too much today. I don't think that in comparison with others the cost of the Government House is too much out of the way."

D. A. Kirkland, 1403 Fairfield, summed it up by saying: "Why shouldn't British Columbia have the best?"

Disagreement was strongly voiced by Mrs. H. J. Medland, 3172 Douglas.

"It's too expensive," she said. "Too much money has been spent on Government House and not enough on old-age pensioners. I think some of the money should have been used for accommodation for the pensioners."

Mrs. G. C. Owen, 2326 Quadra, was also dubious.

"A lot of that money," she said, "could have gone into far better projects. I don't think we need that type of Government House."

Mrs. Bruce Smith, 840 Bay, said: "It is nice, but $1,600,000 is a lot of money."

Mrs. M. E. Parsons, 500 Gorge West, agreed the price was high, "but what isn't these days."

Mrs. H. D. Pennell, 1162 Fairfield Road, said: "It's provided work for people. All the different firms in the city have cashed in on the project. In that way, I don't think it's been too expensive."

Forrest Ray, 1170 Fort Street, said: "It looks very nice. After all, a building for people like that needs to have a lot of money spent on it."

Nanaimo to Keep Firm Grip On Fair Affairs

NANAIMO — An extraordinary meeting of the Vancouver Island Exhibition Association board of directors has been called for Tuesday.

Directors will be asked to endorse changes in the by-laws. The changes have been made by the city so it can keep a firm grip on association activities during the term of a new 20-year lease.

Bylaws were altered after the association went into debt to the tune of more than $100,000.

Latest bombshell to be dropped was the resignation of fair manager Eric Stafford. He gave 30 days notice but may reconsider.

PARKSVILLE — Gloria Parkin will be crowned as Parksville May Queen at a colorful ceremony to be held at the Community Park Saturday. Gloria will be crowned by retiring May Queen Diane Henstock.

The ceremony will be preceded by a parade through the business section of Parksville which will start at 2 p.m. and will include a contingent of air force cadets and a cadet band from Nanaimo, decorated bicycles, tricycles, doll buggies, wagons and other items and costumed children.

Following the crowning ceremony there will be a varied program at the sports ground. The day's events will wind up with a gala May Day ball in the community hall where May Queen Gloria will lead the grand march at 10 p.m.

There will be a free children's ball preceding the main event with a grand march at 7:30 p.m.

DUNCAN — Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. for Mrs. Alice MacGlashan, 86, a resident here for 44 years who died Tuesday.

Born in New Brunswick, she came here from Saanich. She was predeceased by her husband, David MacGlashan, 10 years ago.

Clifford Roberts, a lay minister, will officiate at services in Hirst funeral home. Burial will take place in Mountain View Cemetery.

Surviving are a son, Wiley, Boston, Mass.; a daughter, Mrs. Winifred Murphy, Oregon; three granddaughters, six great-grandchildren, a brother and two sisters.

PORT ALBERNI — Preliminary sketches of the proposed Alberni Valley civic centre will be shown at a meeting of the Civic Centre Association to be held Sunday at 8 p.m. in Port Alberni Legion Hall.

Sketches, drawn by Wade, Stockhill, Armour and partners, Victoria, show a building housing an arena, a gymnasium, meeting rooms, swimming pool and tennis courts. The executive of the association will explain a voluntary check-off plan which has been arranged in co-operation with L. S. Branch and E. G. Stroyan of MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd.

Election of officers will take place at the meeting.

THETIS ISLAND — Les McAstocker has been elected as president of Thetis Island Ratepayers' Association.

Other officers are M. Howley, vice-president; Mrs. M. Hunter, corresponding secretary; G. Jantz, recording secretary; Mrs. Herb Wilson, treasurer; A. B. Hunter, membership chairman; R. Ringma, ferry committee chairman.

Recommendations for a revised Thetis Island-Chemainus ferry schedule will be forwarded to the minister of highways for approval.

CHEMAINUS — B.C. Telephone Company is calling tenders shortly for construction of the new Chemainus telephone building.

The new building will be located on the north side of Willow Street half a block west of Mill Street in the downtown business area.

Company officials say that construction will start by early July.

Primarily designed to house a complex electro-magnetic switching equipment which will bring dial service to the community next year, the new central office will also provide space for a garage and plant storage facilities as well as office quarters.

At the time of the dial service introduction, Chemainus subscribers will only speak to an operator when placing their long-distance calls or when in need of assistance, an operator service being provided from Nanaimo.

PORT ALBERNI — A 21-day sentence was imposed by Magistrate W. A. MacLeod when Henry Paquette pleaded guilty to a second charge of impaired driving in Port Alberni court this week.

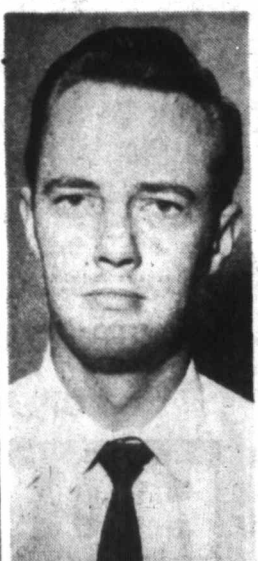

The charge followed an accident at Third Avenue and Burde Street Tuesday night when a passenger on a motorcycle driven by Paquette was injured. Thomas O'Donnell was taken to West Coast General Hospital and released following treatment for minor injuries.

PARKSVILLE — Response to the annual Red Cross blood donor's campaign disappointed officials this year with only 165 donors turning up at the clinic held in Parksville.

More than 200 donated blood last year. Members of the PTA from Parksville, Qualicum Beach and Nanaimo Bay assisted and refreshments were served by Parksville Women's Institute and the Kinettes. Others assisting were Qualicum Beach United Church Evening Circle, Parksville's Knox United Church W.A. St. Anne's Guild, the Pythian Sisters and Mt. Arrowsmith Branch Canadian Legion.

'Injured Party' Takes No Action

Challenge to Bill 43 Likely to Fizzle Out

REPORTER SHACKLEFORD ... followed

ACTOR HUDSON ... abandoned

Girls Starry-Eyed

Stand-In Finds Adulation Rather Boring

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Beautiful women flocked about me at the Pat Bay airport terminal building yesterday afternoon, hanging on my every word.

To escape all that adulation I walked outside, into the sunlight. Some of the girls followed, the rest peeked through the glass-panelled doors and others gravitated towards me.

And most of them had pen and paper in their hands, obviously waiting for an autograph.

HUDSON'S THE NAME

"This all gets rather boring after a time," I remarked to the chap I was chatting with, someone called Hudson whom I'd met at the TCA ticket counter.

Rock Hudson, I think he said his name was. Apparently had something to do with movies.

Said he came to Sidney by launch from Los Angeles, on a holiday-fishing trip, and was on his way to Vancouver to see the town before flying back to Hollywood.

Seems he spent the day in Victoria, looking about Government Street as most tourists do, had lunch at the Poodle Dog Cafe and bought a loaf of Russian rye bread to take back.

MEAN TRICK

Quite a pleasant person to talk to, really, but I'm afraid I played a rather mean trick on him and all those girls.

I quickly said good-bye and slipped through the crowd of beautiful women and drove off, leaving him surrounded and alone.

Come to think of it, I don't think anyone missed me.

MacMillan and Bloedel Gift

Province to Accept Sproat Lake Park

The provincial recreation department will today accept 43-acre Smith's Landing Park on Sproat Lake as a gift from MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. to be developed as a provincial campsite.

Recreation Minister Earle Westwood will accept the deed to the park from M. & B. president Ralph Shaw at a ceremony in Port Alberni this afternoon.

Smith's Landing, with its three-quarter-mile of lake shore, has been one of Vancouver Island's most popular camping sites for several years and site of the annual Sproat Lake speedboat regatta.

Alberni district residents have made full use of the spacious picnic grounds.

Recreation department officials said the park will be maintained this summer and development will start next winter, possibly first as a day use park and later as a provincial camping park.

Picketing Will Continue

Victoria labor's so-called "test case" against British Columbia's controversial new Bill 43 seemed doomed to fizzle out yesterday unless a city contractor seeks redress as an injured party.

Backed by the B.C. Federation of Labor, Victoria Building Trades Council Thursday picketed a non-union construction project at Craigflower and Admirals Road and challenged the government to take punitive action under the new labor legislation.

PROHIBITS PICKETING

The bill prohibits picketing of non-union shops.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner told the Colonist last night: "It is quite impossible to challenge the government by these manoeuvres."

He pointed out that the act makes provision by which the injured party may seek redress.

DIDN'T HAMPER

But the "injured party," John Henson, Jr., 520 West Burnside, said the picketing didn't hamper his operations.

He charged the unions with having failed to ask him to sign any agreement but said he was paying his men union wages anyway. His basic wage for carpenters, he said, was $2.65 an hour. Some of his men get more.

He said he had not considered taking action against the picketing group "because I have been too busy."

NOT TRUE

Union officials said it is not true that the contractor has never been asked to sign a union agreement.

"We have approached him before—we have asked him many times in the past," said Donald Bushell, secretary of the Victoria Building Trades Council.

James A. Moffat, business agent for Local 1598, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, agreed.

LAST MARCH

"We asked him last March," said Mr. Moffat.

"We had a little conversation at the site where the picketing is going on and I asked him if he would sign an agreement and he said no."

The business agent said the contractor's employees had been asked to join the union and they also declined.

$2.72 AN HOUR

He said basic wage at union operations is $2.72 an hour.

Picketing at the site will continue, Mr. Moffat said, until it is either halted by the processes of law or the project is completed.

The contractor said the buildings which the labor organization is picketing—an apartment block and a service station—are his own.

ACTIVE CONTRACTOR

He said he was an active contractor in Victoria until about three years ago but is not one today. He is not soliciting any construction business.

Bid Accepted

DUNCAN — Bid by General Construction Co. Ltd. of Victoria was accepted yesterday by North Cowichan council to cover 20 miles of bituminous paving.

The company's bid of $199,492 was the lowest of three received and opened at the meeting in Chemainus.

They'll Soon Need a Home

Getting ready for SPCA Open House May 30 at Wilson Street shelter are these four shorthair pointer-Labrador pups, being fed by clerk Mrs. Alma Ladd. Now 12 days old, pups will be available for adoption when six weeks old. Society also has 12 other pups, from eight to 12 weeks old for adoption. Some of them will be on view at Open House, when there'll be white elephant stall, raffles, tea and dog obedience trials.—(Colonist photo.)

Doctor-Director Lashes Out

B.C. Stall on Patient Care Adds to Hospital Crowding

Victoria's shortage of hospital accommodation could be relieved to the extent of 100 beds if the government would stop "procrastinating" on the long-term patient care program which it announced in 1956.

The charge of procrastination was laid against the provincial health department by Dr. E. N. Boettcher, a director of Gorge Road Hospital and medical superintendent of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Gorge Road Hospital officials said yesterday that Health Minister Eric Martin "has made no effort to contact us" since he told the legislature more than two months ago that an early meeting was planned with the institution's board of management.

The hospital, designed for the care of chronic and convalescent patients, receives no government grants of any sort and its patients cannot qualify for BCHIS coverage.

This means that patients in the city's two general hospitals, St. Joseph's and Royal Jubilee, do everything possible to remain on the active treatment list so that they can stay out of Gorge Road where they would have to pay a minimum of about $180 a month.

Dr. Boettcher said that failure of BCHIS to cover patients in the convalescent category creates a "financial barrier" which negates one of the very purposes for which the Gorge Road institution was built at a cost of nearly $500,000.

He said there is "no clear black line between the active care patient and the convalescent. There is an area of gray."

In what he terms the "gray" area are patients who could be treated in a convalescent hospital but who can still technically remain on the active treatment list in a general hospital, thus continuing under BCHIS coverage rather than facing the prospect of paying for their care at Gorge Road.

Since the government announced in 1956 that it was creating a program which would cover convalescent patients, Gorge Road Hospital has equipped itself to handle this type of care.

But the financial barrier has kept the patients away and the hospital has dealt largely with chronic patients.

The convalescents are still filling vitally-needed beds in the general hospitals instead of taking advantage of facilities for about 50 such patients now available at the 104-bed Gorge Road institution.

Gorge Road would expand its facilities to handle another 50 convalescent patients if their coverage by BCHIS was implemented by the government.

Oak Bay Liquor Store Announcement Soon

Attorney-General Robert Bonner yesterday said he expects the Liquor Control Board will shortly be in a position to announce location of a new liquor store in the Greater Victoria-Oak Bay district. It is understood the new store will be adjacent to the Safeway Store development at Foul Bay Avenue and Fort Street.

Mr. Bonner said his department is still interested in locating a liquor store to serve the Langford-Colwood-Metchosin-Belmont Park areas.

CUBANS STIR UP REVOLT IN SPAIN

It was supposed to be a boat launching, but somehow the car got into the act, too, last night at Kinver Beach in Esquimalt. The car driver-boating enthusiast was so flustered at the time the picture was taken he was unable to give his name to Colonist photographer Jim Ryan.

Bulletins

WASHINGTON — The house appropriations committee voted funds to set up a high-powered "brain trust" to mastermind global warfare against communism on the economic and political fronts.

BONN, Germany — The Federal Attorney's office announced the arrest of 20 persons in a sweeping investigation of a Communist East German spy ring in West Germany. More arrests are expected.

VANCOUVER — Vancouver's ocean beaches, closed since last August because of pollution, may be re-opened this summer, two years earlier than expected.

VANCOUVER — The United Church of Canada plans to build 600 new churches in this country in the next five years, the church's associate secretary said Thursday.

GENEVA — The regular East-West nuclear negotiations meet today in another attempt to get the stalled nuclear test ban talks moving.

Seeking, Sought?

Admittedly looking for a new governor-general, Australian Prime Minister Robert Menzies declined to say in Ottawa yesterday whether he was considering a Canadian for the job and jokingly replied he "wouldn't be frightened" by a possibility he might be asked to be Canada's next governor-general.

Strongholds Established In Two Areas

HAVANA (NANA) — Armed rebels have been fighting the Franco regime in Spain for more than a month in a revolution directed by veterans of Fidel Castro's July 26th movement, according to a highly informed source here.

The revolution, according to Gen. Alberto Bayo, technical adviser to the armed forces of Cuba, began "on schedule" on April 14. He disclosed details and tactics of the revolution, known as the "14th of April movement," in an interview.

EL GRAN BAYO

The general, known as "El Gran Bayo" to revolutionary forces in Latin America and in Spain, where he led loyalist forces during the Spanish civil war of the 1930s, said that he was elected leader of the April 14 movement several months ago at a convention of Latin American revolutionaries in Caracas, Venezuela. Cuban and Venezuelan leaders have been the most vigorous opponents of Latin dictatorships in recent months.

TRAINED CASTRO

General Bayo is the man who trained Fidel Castro and his original followers in guerrilla tactics in Mexico three years ago. He is credited with the master plan for the overthrow of the regime of Fulgencio Batista.

The Spanish revolution which allegedly began on April 14 is confirmed by other sources here. The Cubans claim:

1.—A train was derailed, on the evening of April 14, at the entrance to a tunnel near Puerto de Pajares. The derailling allegedly was done by a band of guerrillas led by Antonio Rodriguez, who is a Cuban and a veteran of the Spanish civil war.

REBELS ENGAGED

2.—Government troops in Catalonia and Andalusia are engaging the rebels.

3.—Fighting is particularly heavy in the region between Lavinana, Mieres and La Felguera, where miners have fled to the hills carrying with them supplies of dynamite.

4.—That rebel strongholds have been established in Asturias and Barcelona.

PLANE CRASH

5.—Two weeks ago a plane crashed near Madrid, killing all 28 passengers. The Cubans claim the crash was caused by an act of sabotage by the rebels.

Juan Pablo de Lajondie, Spanish ambassador to Cuba, has protested to the Cuban minister of state regarding these claims, particularly regarding the plane crash two weeks ago. The ambassador conceded that a plane did crash but objected to the claim that rebel sabotage was involved.

LIKE BATISTA

General Bayo pointed out that Batista also denied every claim of rebel success during his regime. By the time the rebel claims in Cuba had been verified, he said, the revolution had been won.

"Franco is keeping the truth from the world, just like Batista did," he said. "But our intelligence is very accurate, although it takes several weeks, sometimes, for reports to reach us."

NO FALSE CLAIMS

General Bayo insists that he is not sensationalizing: "We would be very stupid indeed to make false claims. The people who live in these (Spanish) regions would know that we were lying, the word would spread, and if our words proved false the revolution would be lost before it had begun."

'Useless Waste'

Benefits Go On Skid Road

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Vancouver magistrate suggested Thursday that a check be made on unemployment insurance and social assistance payments to halt the "useless waste" of such funds on skid road drinking parties.

CBC Strike Aid Sought

TORONTO (UPI)—Technicians at the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation studios here began seeking support from other broadcasting unions in the event of a possible nation-wide strike.

'Lieut. Ballinger' Likes Sunset Ceremony

Tough "Chicago detective" of TV's M Squad, Lee Marvin traded his snub-nosed .38 revolver for a brief rundown on the 5th (B.C.) Independent Medium Battery nine-pound cannon

during the sunset ceremony last night. Mr. Marvin said the ceremony was "certainly something for Victorians to be proud of." See story, page 14. (Colonist photo by Ted Harris.)

Today's Morals 'From Gutter'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Philosopher Dr. Barnett Savary says youngsters today tend to learn their morals from the gutter. The University of British Columbia professor told a parents' institute that many parents are leaving their children to learn their values from neighborhood gangs and television. The present social system "is based on a fabric of lies" and these dishonesties affect the lives of our children," he said.

"The home has ceased to be a home. It now is a place to eat, sleep, hang a hat and of course, watch television. Parents haven't time to be with their children." The school teacher was expected to teach the child his moral values, but the teacher was overloaded with other duties and so "the youngsters tend to learn their morals from the gutter."

Island Tug, Battleship

Historic Tow Starts Monday

Nautical history will be written Monday when the Victoria tug Cambrian Salvor leaves Concepcion, Chile, on a 10,000-mile haul to Japan with a fully-armed 30,000-ton battleship in tow.

Nautical history will be written Monday when the Victoria tug Cambrian Salvor leaves Concepcion, Chile, on a 10,000-mile haul to Japan with a fully-armed 30,000-ton battleship in tow.

The epic voyage combines one of the longest tows in history with one of the largest ships ever strung on the end of a deep-sea towline.

FIVE KNOTS

Donald Elworthy, an official of Island Tug and Barge Ltd., owners of the Cambrian Salvor, said yesterday the company hopes the salvage vessel and its tow will average five knots over the cross-Pacific route. (See story page 7).

The Chilean battleship Almirante Latorre will carry her 10 14-inch guns, 14 six-inch guns and smaller armament as well as her huge engines.

During the First World War the vessel bore the illustrious name HMS Canada and was one of the most powerful capital ships on the high seas. Laid down at Vickers yard in Newcastle, England, in 1911, the battleship was under construction for the Chilean government at the outbreak of war and was taken over by the Royal Navy.

She was refitted in England after hostilities ceased and finally found her way into the navy which had first ordered her.

CREW OF 27

On her way to a Japanese breaking yard she will be handled by a crew of 27 on the Cambrian Salvor and five in her own quarters. The tug is commanded by a Dutchman, Capt. James Van Comodo.

Cambrian Salvor is a sister ship of the famed Sudbury II, also operated by Island Tug and Barge, and is one of the most powerful afloat.

Indians Aiding Tibetans

BOMBAY (CP) — As more streams of Tibetan refugees follow the exiled Dalai Lama down to the Assam plains through the jungles of northern India, a wave of sympathy for them is sweeping the country.

Offers of help are pouring from towns and villages. Relief committees have been formed in all the main cities, and have been receiving a constant flow of wheat, rice, medicines, kitchen utensils and clothes.

Berlin Post 'Very Iffy' Says Pearson

OTTAWA (UPI) — Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson, was noncommittal yesterday on a report he was being considered as top man for a United Nations' authority in Berlin. "It's a very iffy suggestion," he said.

The creation of such a post would be dependent upon a summit conference.

Galveston Hit By Hurricane

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A storm of hurricane fierceness struck this island city about dawn Thursday. It grounded a tanker, sank a fishing boat and blew railroad cars from their tracks.
